

Today in the Quad-Cities Sewer TV gets good 'ratings'

Television occupied Granite City Rotarians at their weekly luncheon Tuesday. The subject was not "soap operas" but there were views of soap and detergents as videotapes showed the interior of Nameoki area sanitary sewer lines, some leaking or collapsed.

Street Superintendent Lionel Portell described the problem of sewer line breaks as stemming from sewer design for a low water table a quarter century ago, followed by a high water table in the 1970s.

A possible error in rating "If You Don't Stop It" is offending many area moviegoers.

The film started yesterday at seven metropolitan theaters, including Nameoki Cinema. It was shown here as a "preview" during the weekend, and explicit film clips had been presented to audiences to advertise it as one of the future attractions.

The movie, featuring Keefe Brasseur, has an "R" label but contains material normally associated with "X" ratings, local residents say. R restrictions are that those under 17 must be accompanied by a parent or adult guardian; X is limited to persons 17 and older.

Some St. Louis area publicity for the film describes it as "strictly for mature adults only" but it retains the R rating.

Nameoki Cinema says it is enforcing R rules. A spokesman at Nameoki said he regards the film as "definitely not for children" and adds that "all must have proof of age, such as a draft card or driving license."

Douglas—more than a debater

(19th of a Bicentennial Year Press-Record Series)
The rapid approach of the March 16 primary election is turning thoughts to public officials and candidates, present and past.

Two of the better known Illinois officials of past years were Governor Adlai Stevenson, who served in that office in the 1950s, and Senator Stephen A. Douglas, who represented this state in Washington a century earlier, in the 1850s.

Among the factors that the two had in common were their unsuccessful aspirations for the Presidency.

It is a personal misfortune, as Stevenson discovered in Dwight Eisenhower's time, to oppose a President who is a national hero.

Thus, for generations, the

RELOCATED DUE TO HIGHWAY. This view Wednesday of the south entrance to the Granite City Army Installation at Bissell Street in Venice shows the present guard building in operation at the left and a new guard structure directly behind it, about 50 feet farther into the Depot property. Town suit dismissed

A suit in which Nameoki Township contended that Nameoki property annexed by the city of Granite City since 1971 did not become a part of Granite City Township, and therefore remained a part of Nameoki Township for tax purposes, has been dismissed in Circuit Court at Edwardsville, it was learned by the Press-Record this week.

The controversy grew out of the fact that the boundaries of the city of Granite City and the township of Granite City are the same, and that when the city annexed Nameoki property, the boundaries of Granite City Township also were changed to include that property within the township.

Nameoki officials maintained that the annexations by the city of Granite City did not apply to Granite City township, and that the property involved therefore remained within Nameoki Township boundaries.

Schuman backing Kinder

Retired Chief Circuit Judge Fred P. Schuman announced this week his support for Norman Kinder Jr., a Granite City attorney seeking the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge.

Schuman, whose vacancy is being filled by election, wrote Kinder on Monday, "As I look back over my many years of affiliation with our judicial system, I have reached the conclusion that it is most important for the voters of Madison County to elect a judge who will insure a continued improvement of our judicial system in the up-coming primary election."

"I feel that you will do an excellent job of serving our

The suit originally was filed by the township July 2, 1975, to protest annexations of several parcels of property, including that where Archer Daniels Midland Co. constructed a new soybean processing plant on Cargill Road.

The suit sought to return the annexed properties to Nameoki Township and to collect township taxes collected for those parcels since July 1, 1971, the date the new Illinois Constitution became effective. It was contended the new constitution provided for annexations in both townships involved.

The judge accepted the suit and issued a temporary order holding all taxes paid in that area in escrow until the issue could be resolved.

Granite City Treasurer Paul Rutledge said this week about $47,000 in taxes has been tied up county's judicial system if you are elected.

"You will be receiving my wholehearted support in the March 16 primary election," Schuman retired in 1975 after serving as chief circuit judge of the Third Circuit for three and a half years and as a judge of the circuit for 18 years prior to that.

He has practiced law in Madison County since 1932.

Marcel Calvo was appointed to fill the vacancy subject to the election. Judge Calvo had been a state representative.

A groundbreaking ceremony for the Environmental Resources Training Center (ERTC) building at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is scheduled Thursday, March 11, at 2 p.m., climaxed a regular meeting of the SIU Board of Trustees on the local campus.

The ceremony will be held at the construction site adjacent to Pong Road, near the existing waste water treatment plant on the northwest side of the campus.

Dr. Richard Briceland, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), will be the guest speaker for the occasion. Construction of the advanced waste treatment and operators' training facility is being funded by a grant from the EPA.

In addition to state and national EPA officials, contractor and labor union representatives and legislators, university officials and trustees will participate in the program, with Dr. Andrew J. Koch, vice-president and provost, presiding.

Compensation target as candidates meet public

By GARY SCHNEIDER Press-Record Staff Writer
In a discussion which went deeper than in most campaign appearances, candidates for the Illinois House of Representatives and Senate in the 56th Legislative District met representatives of the Tri-Cities Area, Alton and Edwardsville Chambers of Commerce at a breakfast Tuesday morning at the Sunset Hills Holiday Inn.

Present on the Democratic side of the table were incumbent State Sen. Sam Vadala, incumbent Representative Sam Wolf and Joe Lucio, and representative candidates Louis Whitsett, Jim McPike and Anita Effimoff.

Republicans at the breakfast included Glenn T. Wilson and Gertraude C. Wittig, candidates for senator, incumbent Rep. Everett Steele and representative candidate Eva Giltner McDonald.

Each of the incumbents is seeking nomination to run for the same office.

Each gave a five-minute speech on his qualifications and platforms and the speeches were followed by a question and answer session.

Two issues dominated the

SIUE salute dinner

The favorable impact of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on the Quad-City area will be the subject of a "salute to SIUE" dinner at 6 p.m. Friday, April 2.

Sponsor is the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. Plans for the event were announced by George T. Wilkins Sr., Education Committee chairman, at a monthly Chamber question and answer session—a bill which led to increased workmen's compensation benefits and "runaway state agencies" which do not have to answer to the people.

An Edwardsville businessman, angered over a 47.5 per cent increase in the insurance premiums paid by businessmen for workmen's compensation insurance, asked Rep. Lucio why the bill was passed.

Lucio said he had supported the bill to increase workmen's compensation, but added, "Later, we realized we had gone overboard. We were sold a little bit of a bill of goods."

Lucio said he felt a lack of input during discussions on the bill from businesses and groups such as chambers of commerce had some effect on the bill passing. "I didn't hear anything from your side," he said to those present.

He said the bill "needs to be readjusted" and employees need to be paying a part of the cost. "Time has proven that we went too far," Lucio said, adding the benefits in Illinois still are not the highest among states in the country.

Sen. Vadala answered board dinner, held at Tony's Restaurant.

Location of the dinner will be the Granite City High School South cafeteria.

Tickets costing $6.50 became available yesterday. They are on sale at the four Quad-City banks, the three Venice, Madison and Granite City school board offices, the Chamber office and SIUE, Wilkins said.

The atmosphere was prayerful at yesterday's March Quad-City prayer breakfast but the land use topic prompted many of those present to speak out against what they view as "strangulation" of this community.

Theodore Mikesell, executive director of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, agreed with the gathering in some instances and promised to return this spring to review specifics.

Concerns voiced included a four-mile-wide no-development zone, between Highways 111 and 157; absence of comprehensive regional water drainage facilities; frequent ignoring of Quad-City viewpoints in over-tightening population projections that can be the basis for state or federal bans on new construction.

Special criticism centered on plans for Edwardsville area sewer lines to be handled separately from Granite City's regional treatment facilities. Selection of a Hartford Canal route for the Edwardsville line apparently will omit routes that could serve as a spur to development, some of Wednesday's audience said.

The breakfast was arranged by the Community Service Division of the Granite City Rotary Club and Thomas Thebeau presided.

Mikesell traced the 12-year SIMAPC history and reviewed current planning activities, noting that the staff has grown from one to 45.

The commission now serves seven counties, having added Monroe to the original Madison County in 1966. Randolph in 1969, Washington and Bond in 1972 and Clinton in 1975.

The speaker said the executive board is being expanded from 84 to 108 to retain valued laymen while at the same time assigning two-thirds

Tighten control of coin devices

New regulations to control operation of coin-operated amusement devices in Granite City—including a requirement that all such licenses be approved by the mayor and the City Council—were approved by council members Monday night in enactment of amendments to the City Code.

Among other "tightened" regulations in the new bill, one requires payment of a $300 per year license fee by operators or distributors of amusement devices, and a license fee of $10 for each machine to be paid by "proprietors" who operate the machines in a place of business.

The new $300 license fee for operators is an increase from $25 in the original bill. The $10 fee for each machine is unchanged.

The requirement that licenses for operation of such machines be submitted to the City Council for approval by the mayor and the aldermen grew out of recent efforts by a St. Louis firm to open a new "game room" in the Nameoki area.

During council discussion of the issue which was brought before the council on a direct plea to the aldermen for a license to operate the game room, it was brought out that there was no provision under the old ordinance that gave the City Council the right to act on such a request.

The original ordinance provided only that the operator of amusement devices was required only to apply to the city clerk, pay the fee and receive a license, without any recourse to council action. The game room license was denied, however.

1776 theme of sr. citizen fair

"The Way We Were in 1776" will be the theme of the Spring Senior Citizens' Fair scheduled at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville March 24 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tim Tighe, coordinator of special programs for Student Activities at SIUE, reports this is the seventh such senior citizen fair for this area. Plans include movies, special displays, kitchen bands, dances, arts and crafts. The fair is free of charge and open to the public. In the spring of 1975, over 1,200 senior citizens from Illinois and Missouri attended the event.

Keynote speaker for the spring fair will be Kenneth Holland, director of the Department on Aging in Illinois. Holland will inform senior citizens of programs that now exist for them throughout Illinois. He will also discuss how the Department on Aging and its branch offices are designed to offer services and benefits for the elderly, and new programs that are being formulated. Holland has been director of the department two years. He succeeded Irving Dillard of Collinsville.

The Forum is composed of 17 patriotic women's organizations, representing over two million members, which send delegates from all over the nation. Programs are planned to give the delegates an in-depth overview of the current status of the broader aspects of national security in the interest of providing the public with a better understanding of a complex subject in a complex time, Mrs. Fellers said. Guest speakers during the three-day meeting included Bishop Fulton J. Sheen; Congresswoman Margaret Heckler, (R-Mass.); Dr. W. Linton McPeters, president-elect of the American Bankers Association; Congresswoman Helen S. Meyer, (D-N.J.); and Margie E. White, director of the White House Office of Communications and assistant press secretary to President Ford.

Democratic rally Sunday

All area Democratic candidates for state and county offices in the March 16 primary election have been invited to attend a free public rally starting at 8 p.m. Sunday at the VFW Hall, 2044 Washington Ave.

The event is sponsored by the Granite City Democratic Township Precinct Committee. Free entertainment and refreshments will be furnished.

Town Suit

by the suit which should now be released to Granite City tax agencies, including Granite City Township.

Not all of the money tied up was confined to township taxes. Rutledge said the order forced him to tie up all of the taxes from the annexed areas until the court determined how much of the money was due to which township.

A motion to dismiss the suit was filed Nov. 21, 1975, by Granite City Attorney George Filcoff, who cited a Supreme Court ruling on a similar case in Springfield, Ill., where the legal problems were identical to those in the local suit.

The Supreme Court in that case ruled in favor of the city of Springfield and against the Springfield Lakeshore Improvement (Nameoki) Township, which filed the suit on behalf of the township from which the property was annexed.

The ruling established that in townships where the boundaries are identical to the city boundaries, an annexation by the city automatically brings the property into the new township. Granite City and Springfield are among the contiguous city-townships in the state where the city and township boundaries are identical.

Judge Francis' ruling to dismiss the suit cites the Springfield case and says, "said complainant (Nameoki) Township fails to state a cause of action and said complaint is ordered dismissed."

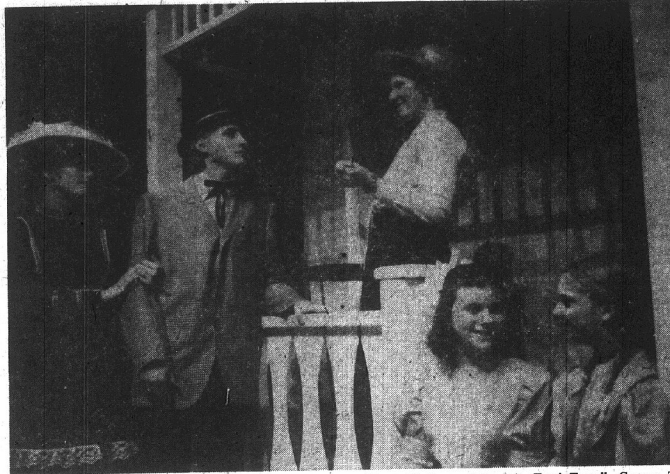

Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell, informed of the ruling by the Press-Record Tuesday, commented, "It really does not surprise me. We felt the Supreme Court ruling in the Springfield case would probably have an effect on our suit."

"It is really a shame," he commented, noting the ruling leaves townships vulnerable to be "gobbled up piecemeal" by cities.

He has long opposed annexations which, he feels, are making townships smaller and less powerful. Whitsell predicts the state eventually will dissolve the township form of government in favor of control by counties.

"That would be a shame because township government is the most responsive form of government there is. We can offer people much better service at the township level than they could receive under the county government," Whitsell stated. Whitsell also is a member of the Madison County Board.

The theme finds Professor Harold Hill arriving in River City, Iowa, on the Rock Island line and during his four-week stay convinces townspeople that they need a big brass band. His motives are dishonest, but while fleeing his customers he transforms a dull town into a singing and dancing community. Finally the beautiful librarian transforms him from a scheming conman into a reliable citizen.

Venice warns elderly against deceptive acts

Chief of Police Ralph D. Brawley reported to the Venice City Council Tuesday night an incident in which a 76-year-old Venice woman was victimized $100 by a "con" artist.

Brawley asked the council to warn the public and particularly elderly persons, of deceptive practices.

"We had a 76-year-old woman tell us that a well-dressed, well-mannered, middle-aged man came to her home and professed to be an agent working for Medicare," Brawley said.

"The man told her the Medicare program has started a new policy and that she and all other participants would have to pay $100 quarterly from their own pockets to maintain their hospitalization.

"He then showed her some official-looking 'Medicare' papers, and credentials and asked if she had the $100 for her first premium.

"The woman told him that she didn't have the money at the house but if he would come back later she would get it for him. "He returned about four hours later and she unfortunately gave him the money.

"We were called by the public aid office and advised of the situation, and I think it is vital to make our senior citizens aware of this and encourage them to seek advice before they give money to anyone for anything," Chief Brawley emphasized.

Mayor William Ebersold further emphasized the need for the citizens to look after the elderly residents and called on the council to help inform everyone of this practice.

"People who prey on the elderly are despicable and they better not let us catch them in Venice," Mayor Mike Ebersold said.

BREAK INTO OFFICE

A north side door was pried open to gain entry to the E. J. Miller, Inc. building at 1818 Delmar Ave., it was reported Monday. A desk in the main office was pried open and the secretary's desk was ransacked. A door to the basement was pried, but not opened. The only things known stolen were four ink pens.

Arrest 3 in theft case

Three young men were arrested and charged with burglary after allegedly removing a tape player, tape case and 14 tape recordings from the car of Richard Doty, 2470 Center St., at Fehling and State streets, behind Granite City High School South at 2:15 p.m. Monday.

Several students behind the school told authorities they saw three youths force open the vent window to Doty's auto and remove some items.

They said the youths put the items in the trunk of a blue car and drove from the scene. From the description of the car, officers went to one young man's house and alleged he admitted the theft and he allowed police to open the trunk of his car where officers alleged finding the stolen items.

The owner, Mark S. Randall, 17, of 2721 Michigan Ave., was arrested. Police later located Jay Rainwater, 18, of 2837 Fortune Drive, and Randall C. Anderson, 17, of 3932 Iowa St., at school and charged them with burglary.

Urges full scholarships

Gov. Dan Walker has urged the Illinois State Scholarship Commission to give college and university students their full scholarships for the rest of the school year.

Gov. Walker said he will support a $3.95 million supplemental appropriation for scholarships for the current fiscal year.

He said the Scholarship Commission has sufficient funds now to award full grants to all scholarship recipients currently enrolled. The supplemental appropriation would fund awards to those who enroll around mid-April.

Gov. Walker said the supplemental appropriation would enable the commission to avoid proration of scholarship awards.

The commission earlier announced its intention to reduce scholarship awards by 12 per cent for semester students this semester and by 18 per cent for quarter students in the third quarter.

Six awards in SIUE program

The first awards in the new Faculty Development Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were announced this week and proposals are being accepted for a second round of awards, according to J. Robert Russo, associate dean of the SIUE Graduate School.

Complete proposals for the second round of competition should be submitted for review by the Commission of Teaching and Research Scholars by April 5, and announcements of the awards will be made April 23, Russo said.

Six awards were announced. The recipients and their projects are:

Robert H. Blain, professor of psychology, "United States Land Use Game."

A group of psychology professors, Eva Ferguson, Kenneth Kleinman, David Kohfeld, John McCall, Robert McLaughlin, Anthony Traxler and Robert Buhl, "Application of Mini-computers in Psychology."

Marilyn D. Hauschild, instructor of mathematical studies, "Gaining Expertise and Developing Courses in Language Translation and Information Storage and Retrieval."

Robert Hawkins, professor of speech communication, "Proposal for Development of Academic Expertise in Gerontology."

Robert E. Lamp, professor of psychology, "The Development and Utilization of Video Tapes To Teach The Processes of Psychological Evaluation: A Pilot Project" and Steven G. Sanders, professor of physics, "The Development of Teaching Effectiveness Through The Application of Piaget's Hypotheses."

According to Russo, the sociology project of which Blain is director will continue the development and classroom testing of a simulation game intended to help students gain national perspectives on social problems, the economy, and alternative futures for the United States.

The group of psychology professors will receive training in the use of minicomputers for instruction and research in conjunction with the department's move into the new classroom buildings at SIUE.

Miss Hauschild's project will continue her work in the development and revision of computer science instructional methods and content.

Expertise in the area of intergenerational communication and its application to classroom instruction will be developed by Hawkins' project, Russo said.

Lamp plans to produce video tapes to supplement lectures in classes designed to teach the use of psychological assessment instruments.

Russo explained that Sanders will extend his study of the relationship of students' intellectual levels, "in the Piagetian sense," to performance in math and science courses.

"The purpose and design of the Faculty Development Program is to stimulate and support systematic efforts to improve the skills and competencies of in-place faculty as teachers and scholars," Russo said.

The program was developed by the Graduate School, and financial resources were committed by the President's Office to begin some of the activities, Russo said he is hopeful that the Graduate School will receive significant support from external agencies for the program.

Meetings are being scheduled to distribute guidelines for the next round of competition. Interested faculty may attend a meeting Monday, March 8, at 7 p.m. in the Graduate School conference room. Those unable to attend may contact Associate Dean Russo for guidelines and additional information.

IMPROVED COATS FOR FIREMEN, on the right and left, are shown flanking the former rubber coats worn for several years. The new coats and pants are designed to protect firemen to much higher temperatures than the old type, and it is lighter to wear.

Ok rezoning for Hundley auto service

Granite City council members approved Monday night a recommendation by the City Plan Commission that property at 3626-3630 Nameeki Road be rezoned to a C-1 commercial classification to permit an auto sales and leasing operation.

The recommendation was approved without discussion, although the matter had been deferred from the Feb. 23 council session on a motion by Alderman Steve Basarich.

The rezoning was sought by Thomas Hundley, operator of Hundley Auto Sales at 18th Street and Madison Avenue, who plans to establish a new business at the Nameeki Road location.

Amend GC budget

An ordinance amending the 1975-76 Granite City budget was enacted by the City Council Monday night, resulting in a net increase of $7,786.

Actually, the amendment bill established budget increases totaling $167,428 in some funds, but at the same time provided decreases of $159,641 in others, resulting in the net change of $7,786.

Increases in the budget amendment include $15,900 for the sanitation fund, $150 for the treasurer's office, $13,695 in municipal retirement, $64,276 in the firemen's pension fund, $60,706 in the police pension fund and $6,700 for the CETA manpower program, for a total of $167,428.

The bulk of this was offset by

Bloodmobile in Madison March 22

Citizens in the Madison-Venice area are being asked to be "Red Blooded Americans" on Monday, March 22, when for the first time in several years the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Madison.

The Madison-Venice Rotary Club and the Madison Lions Club are co-sponsoring the collection of the blood with a goal of 200 pints.

Rotarian Leo Schermer and Lion Tony Anselmo are co-chairmen of the drive for donors.

"Everyone's help is needed in this program," Anselmo said. "Why? Blood is at the heart of modern health care and the volunteer blood donor is the vital link many patients depend upon. Blood must be given by one individual for the benefit of others."

"We can send men to the moon and do a lot of wonderful things today, but we can't manufacture blood. That is why we need everyone eligible to donate."

Volunteer donors are being asked to telephone Albert Rudzik, 676-6266, and make an appointment for anytime between 2:30 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.

"Unless we as individuals accept the challenge and the responsibility of supplying blood to our community, it cannot be done. I feel confident the people of the Madison and Venice area will do their share," Schermer said.

CIRCUS HISTORY is brought to life for pupils at Emerson School by Mrs. Jo Ross of Granite City, right, a personal friend of the late Mrs. Lou Ringling, wife of Al Ringling, oldest of the Ringling brothers who founded the internationally acclaimed circus. Mrs. Ross tells the children of her experiences visiting Lou, known as "the grand old lady of the big top," at the circus' winter quarters in Baraboo, Wis. The local resident also described attending the Ringling brothers Golden Jubilee celebration with Mrs. Ringling in August 1933 at Baraboo. She showed newspaper clippings, photographs and memorabilia from the early days of the circus. Pictures of the giraffe-neck women from Burma, the original Tom Thumb and herds of elephants captured the youngsters' attention. The Ringling brothers bought Barnum and Bailey Circus in 1906, operating them together until the big top show finally folded in July 1956 at Pittsburgh. (Press-Record Photos)

3 WAYS TO SAY "CHARGE IT"

Basketball Cougars say, 'Wait till next season'

Like the Brooklyn Dodgers fans of '56 olden days, before the denizens of Ebbets Field departed for Los Angeles, present day Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville varsity basketball fans are chanting: "Wait until next year."

Cougar Jim Dudley's SIUE cagers finished their season during the weekend with a 80-50 victory over Blackburn College at the Edwardsville High gym.

The victory, the Cougars' fourth straight, upped their record to 12-15. It was only Dudley's second losing campaign in his six-year tenure as head coach at SIUE.

The win, after the Cougars' 101-84 triumph over the University of Missouri - St. Louis Rivermen the same week, pointed up what may lie ahead for SIUE basketball.

Dudley will lose only one senior, John Strubberg, who took game high scoring honors with 17 points. The coach has announced that he intends to concentrate on Southern Illinois prep cagers in his recruiting.

Reasons for SIUE fans' confidence toward the future include the play of two guards, freshmen Keil Peebles and junior Bobby Herrod, plus first-year center 6-8 Jim Allen, junior forward Robert (Pistol) Petz.

Just a shade back are Darryl Page of Granite City, Tony Roberts, Reggie Hadley, Ron Lorenz and Dave Starkey. Sophomore Starkey, a standout from Normal, lettered his freshman year but was sidelined most of the past season with a leg injury.

In their romp over Blackburn, the Cougars again had five marksmen in double figures: Strubberg, 17; Allen, 10; Herrod and Peebles, 12 each, and Barnett, 14. Catchings had eight and as usual, led all rebounders with 11.

The game wrote "finis" to Strubberg's SIUE career. He was the second player in Cougar cage history to play all four years; Thurmond (Butch) Ferree, was the first. Strubberg played in 82 games and Ferree in 90.

Strub's 913 points placed him fifth in the all-time SIUE scoring parade. His record of 442 rebounds is second behind leading Leon Wright's 539. His 425 field goals gained him third place behind No. 1 Keith McGarrigan's 490 and Rich Essington's 438.

His 857 field goal attempts put him in fourth place on the all-time list. He finished with an 11.1 career per game average and a 49.6 (435 of 887) shooting percentage. He was 71.5 from the charity line.

The 1975-76 cage season set one team record: largest victory margin, as the Cougars walloped Indiana Northwest U., 116-42. However, the Cougars suffered their lowest team scoring average of just 77.4 per game.

One individual record was written by the Cougars' all-star from Johnston City, freshman guard Keil Peebles. He bettered Denny Thurnburg's free throw mark set in 1970-71 of 847 (195 of 234) with a 850 performance on 79 of 93 chances.

Peebles, after a slow start, took individual game scoring honors with a 13.2 figure. In addition, he led everyone in assists with 108.

Team leader in rebounds, Pete Catchings, totaled 313 and a average of 12 per game. In this category, and coming fast in the final quarter of the season, along with blocking shots, was Jim Allen with 208.

The Cougars' top scorers percentage-wise were: Vince Barnett, 400; Herrod, 490; Allen, 473; Peebles, 471; Strubberg, 467; Mike Miller, 449; and Catchings, 429.

Overall, the Cougars' 12-15 record was, in many aspects, one of the still comparatively young school's best basketball records. The schedule, overall, was by far the school's toughest and included three tournaments.

Said Dudley: "I'm proud of the way the fellows refused to give up when the going was the toughest. They never lost faith in themselves."

REGIONAL ICE HOCKEY CHAMPIONS. This Granite City team posted a 12-3 regular season record and defeated defending league champion Alton in two of three games in capturing the 1975-76 crown of the Madison-St. Clair Junior Ice Hockey League. The local squad is now in contention for the post-season tournament championship and will play O'Fallon at 10 p.m. Saturday in the title contest at the Wilson Park ice rink.

SUPER FAN. Ten-year-old Bibbi Christoff (right), of 434 Briarhaven Drive gets to sit on players' bench at SIUE women's basketball game with Cherry Sharp, a junior SIUE student, 2420 Hemlock Ave. Bibbi, who thinks basketball is "the greatest," brought a basketball to an earlier game this year to get it autographed by all members of the women's team. Because of her interest, Coach Ina Anderson invited her to sit on the bench at the SIUE-McKendree game last week, won by the women Cougars 72-23. The victory was the eleventh in a row and sixteenth of the season.

Cougars in soccer 'Super'

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team, which finished second in the nation last year, has been invited to participate in the Super Eight tournament to be held at Dallas, Tex., over three days - March 19, 20 and 21 - with Southern Methodist University serving as the host school.

Invited along with SIUE are the host SMU Mustangs, Penn State, Clemson U., St. Louis U., Hartwick College of New York, Quincy College and the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA).

On Friday, March 19, there will be four games, played at four different fields. It will be a one-loss-and-out tourney. Game times are 7:30 p.m.

Paired in one contest will be the host Mustangs against Penn State. In the second, it will be Clemson vs. St. Louis U. In the third match, SIUE is pitted against Hartwick, a power in collegiate soccer. In the fourth contest, it'll be the defending NAIA champions, Quincy College Hawks, trading kicks with UCLA.

Defending NCAA division I champions, the University of San Francisco Dons, who defeated SIUE in the championship final at Cougar Field early last December, are unable to make the trip.

The two semifinal games are scheduled for Saturday afternoon, March 20, at 2 and 4 p.m. The championship game will be played Sunday, March 21, at 4 p.m., or immediately after the 2 p.m. third place game.

Bob Guelker, SIUE athletic director and soccer varsity coach, said, "This tourney is a great break for American collegiate soccer. It's an excellent opportunity for the game to be spotlighted." He will announce the Cougars' player roster later.

PROFESSIONAL ATHLETES? Not quite, but Granite City policemen and firemen show good form during the annual Officer Friendly basketball game. Police in the air for a rebound are Fred Hoffman, left, and John Apperson. Firemen surrounding them are,

Lebanon stuns Trojans 73-72 in sectional

A dramatic fourth-quarter comeback by Coach Larry Graham's Madison eagles enabled the Trojans to take a one-point lead in the waning seconds of their sectional semifinal contest against the Lebanon Greyhounds last night in the Vandavia Class A tournament. But a clutch basket at the buzzer by Lebanon's Don Burns ended MHS hopes, 73-72.

Lebanon, an 83-71 victim of the Trojans during the season, partly overcame the Madison zone press and secured under-the-basket shots in the first half forcing Madison to shoot from the outside.

Paced by 10 points from Ron Jones, Madison led 18-17 after the first quarter. MHS trailed 37-35 at halftime as Lebanon hit eight of 11 field goal tries in the second quarter. MHS meshed only four of 12 in that period.

Madison, switching to a man-to-man defense, closed the gap and trailed by only 48-43 going into the final period.

The final quarter turned into a battle from the free throw line as both schools experienced foul problems. Madison tossed in 11 of 18 free throws and Lebanon a deadly 15 of 18.

Lebanon went up by seven points on a basket, later matched by Madison's Curtis Bradley, who was playing with four fouls against him.

Following a Greyhound field goal, Bradley hit two charity tosses. A charging foul against Lebanon sent Joe Gulash to the line for a one-point, narrowing the deficit to 52-48.

Ron Jones, working his way into a charging foul, upped the lead to 61-54. Two Madison free throws and a Lebanon basket kept the Greyhounds in front by seven.

Two straight baskets by Ron Jones were matched by four Lebanon foul shots for a 67-60 score with 2:27 remaining.

After a pair of free throws by each side, it was 69-62 with 1:55 left.

Gitcho 2nd in World Cup meet

Jan Gitcho, former Granite City High School and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville standout matman, won two of three 12½-pound weight class bouts at Toledo, Ohio, early this week to claim second place in World Cup wrestling championships.

The Granite Cityan lost 7-5 to an Iranian wrestler after struggling back from a 6-0 first-period deficit, and then that evening defeated a Canadian foe, 18-4.

Gitcho, a member of the United States team competing at Toledo, took second place with a 15-1 decision Monday over a Russian matman.

"It was rough," says Gitcho, who was wrestling for the first time since suffering a serious leg injury several months ago. "I had to lose 10 pounds the day before the meet to make my weight."

He expresses hope of qualifying for this summer's competition in the Olympics at Montreal, Canada, by performing well next month in a National Amateur Athletic Union meet at Toledo.

"The top three wrestlers from the nationals," he explains, "will compete in wrestle-offs, with victors earning a spot on the U.S. Olympic team."

Gitcho hopes to meet his Iranian foe in the Olympics and "this time come out on top."

Cougar matmen in championship meet

In the past two seasons, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville wrestling teams have gradually advanced in the ranks of the nation's top NCAA Division II squads. In 1974, the Cougars finished third in the Division II Championships. Last year, SIUE moved up to second.

This year's Division II Championships, slated for March 5-6 at North Dakota State University in Fargo, promise to feature a wide-open race for the national title. As many as six schools, including SIUE, are given good shots at the championship.

Besides SIUE, other contenders are California State College-Bakersfield, Mankato (Minnesota) State College, North Dakota State University, defending champion University of Northern Iowa and the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga.

Steelers win; play for title here tomorrow

Whether Coach William Ohlendorf's GCHS North Steelers end with a 15-12 record, or stay alive in Class AA basketball competition has boiled down to whether they can beat strong Edwardsville a second time this season.

Tomorrow's North regional championship game at 7:30 p.m. will be played at the Granite City Memorial Gymnasium, Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road.

The Steelers whipped Roxana last night 71-47 to advance against the Edwardsville Tigers, 91-70 Tuesday victor here over Wood River and the top-seeded team in the tournament.

The Steelers took advantage of four Roxana turnovers in the first minute of the opening quarter to jump to a 4-0 lead, passing to Rick Spurlock, 6-11 senior, under the basket for points.

North led 19-15 at the end of the period, and held a narrower 34-31 lead at halftime.

The Steeler defense tightened in the third period after Ohlendorf called for a switch from man-to-man to zone and then a three-quarter-court press.

North held the Shells to only four points, scoring 16 for a 50-35 lead. In the big third quarter, North forced 10 Roxana turnovers, seven on passes stolen by Tim Luehmann and Larry Schleicher.

The happy Steelers put 21 points on the scoreboard in the last eight minutes to Roxana's 12.

GCHS North made 29 of 60 from the field to Roxana's 21 of 45, and the Steelers more than doubled Roxana's free throws, 13-5.

North committed the most fouls, 18-18, but had the fewest turnovers, 12-20. Roxana made 15 turnovers in the second half.

The Shells edged North on the boards, 27-25. Steeler Jerry Barnett pulled down seven rebounds.

Spurlock paced the scoring with 18 points. Schleicher and Barnett scored 15 each, Tom Schocker nine, Rodney Worthan eight, Luehmann four and Brian Smith, two.

Edwardsville is 13-12 and North 13-11 in present. The Tigers lost a 69-67 thriller to the Steelers this season.

The regional victor here tomorrow will compete in the March 9-10-12 sectional at Collinsville.

The sectional champion will play March 16 in the Carbondale super-sectional, with the winner there advancing to the state Class AA meet at Champaign March 19-20.

Races develop in April 10 school voting

Three new filings as candidates for school board posts in the Quad-City area add in the Belleville Area College District were reported since Monday, one each in Granite City District 9, Venice District 3 and in the BAC District. There were no additional candidate filings in Madison District 12 since the opening of the filing period on Feb. 25.

Filing as a candidate for one of two board posts open in the Granite City District was Edward D. Melton, 2445 Stratford Lane, who filed as a rural member. One of the two candidates elected April 10 must be from the rural area of the district. His filing brings to five the total number of candidates in the Granite City District this far.

In Venice, Mrs. Jacquelyne Leatherman, incumbent board member, filed petitions, while in the BAC District the new candidate is Terrence G. Scandrett of Belleville.

The only other filing thus far in Venice is by Richard Bailey, the other incumbent whose term expires this year. Four candidates for three board posts have filed in the Madison District.

Regional titles will be decided

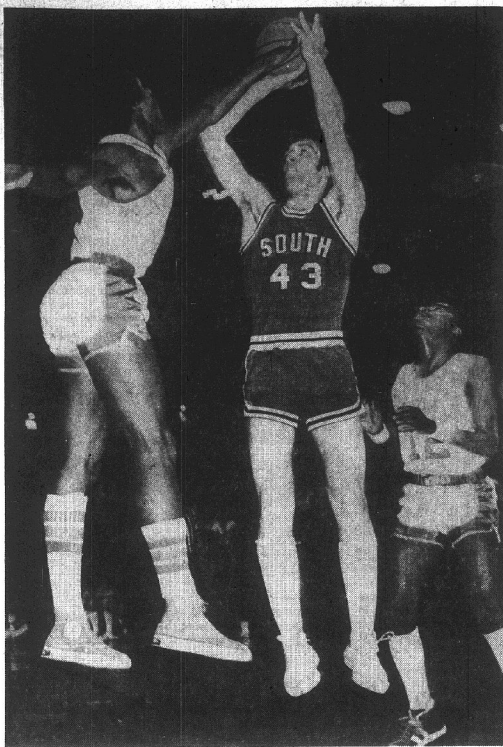

Eight area high school basketball teams will compete for Class AA regional honors tomorrow night, including GCHS North, with the victors advancing into sectional play at Collinsville March 9-10-12.

Regional championship games on tap tomorrow are: Alton-Alton vs. Jerseyville; Belleville East-Belleville West; Belleville West; East St. Louis-Lincoln of East St. Louis vs. East St. Louis Senior; and Granite North-Edwardsville vs. GCHS North.

Hurt on I-64

Ronald Casillas, 59, of 262 Holiday Mobile Home Park, was injured in an auto accident on Interstate 64 near Route 111 and Washington Park when his auto went out of control and went into the median.

He was taken by ambulance to Elizabeth Hospital where he was taken to the right side of his head and bleeding from his nose. He declined hospital treatment.

WARRIOR OFFENSE almost was enough to derail East St. Louis in Class AA regional basketball play Tuesday night but the host Flyers won 47-44. GCHS South's Rick Fancher (43) shoots despite close guarding by an East St. Louis player. No. 12 of the Flyers at right is Marvin Townsend.

Warrior rally almost enough in tournament

A last-ditch effort by Granite City High School South in the final period of an East St. Louis Class AA basketball regional quarterfinal game Tuesday night nearly toppled the top-seeded host Flyers. But the Warrior rally fell short, 47-44.

South stayed with the Flyers throughout the first half, trailing 12-10 and 24-18. East St. Louis opened up a margin in the third period to lead 40-29 before the 15-7 Warrior fourth-quarter surge.

Jim Nolan, who scored all of South's points in the second quarter, picked up his third foul of the game near halftime.

Circling around the Flyers' zone defense, South eventually penetrated and trailed by only 24-21 with 6:40 left in the third period.

An 11-point spree by the hosts, while the Warriors were held to two goals put the Flyers ahead 35-25.

Nolan and Rick Fancher made baskets for a 38-29 score but East St. Louis' Anthony Williams, whose 6-10 height hampered the Warriors, hit back-to-back free throws when Nolan was called for his fourth foul.

A two-point effort by Fancher near the end of the period was battered away by Williams while the ball was in mid-air. The fifth foul on Nolan, 10 seconds into the final period, sent the Warrior to the bench and Williams scored the foul shot.

His second toss bounced off the rim and was pulled down by Fancher, who hustled down-court. But three basket attempts by the Warriors failed to find their marks. Williams took the last rebound and put the Flyers up by 14 points, 43-29.

replacement, Terry Angle, hit a two-pointer with 4:05 remaining.

An exchange of goals was followed by a Flyer basket that made the score 47-35 with 3:37 left. A Warrior timeout was followed by a harassing man-to-man defense, and Angle hit three free throws before he and McRaven scored goals.

Still ahead 47-42, the Flyers called time with 1:55 remaining in the game. Their marksmanship continued to falter but South also found it hard to score despite several successful efforts to steal the ball.

A Warrior free throw with 50 seconds left missed the mark and was batted away by Williams.

In the closing seconds, McRaven took a pass from Frank Holmes and was credited with a field goal when Williams was called for foul-tending.

The loss concluded South's 1975-76 cage season with a 3-22 record and advanced the Flyers into tomorrow night's regional championship contest.

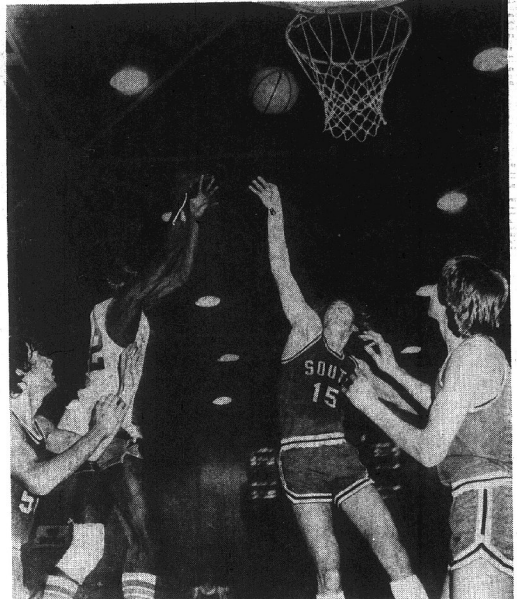

East St. Louis garnered 22 field goals to South's 20 and the Warriors held a 4-3 edge on charity tosses. South fouled 10 times and East St. Louis 12.

The hosts had the most turnovers, 15-11, and edged South on the boards, 29-24. Robert Mosby scored 19 points for the Flyers.

Nolan paced the Warriors with 13 and McRaven scored 10. Fancher eight, Angle seven and John Slay, four.

GC in ice hockey tourney championship contest here

Granite City's season champion ice hockey team will meet O'Fallon for a fourth time this season in a tourney championship game at 10 p.m. Saturday at the Wilson Park rink.

The local squad drew a first-round bye and then defeated Wood River 4-3 in overtime to earn a shot at the tourney title.

O'Fallon defeated Belleville 9-2 at Alton 5-3. In previous outings, O'Fallon won 3-2 over Granite City in November and the local team won 4-3 Dec. 26 and 6-4 Jan. 31. O'Fallon is a big, physical team. But Granite City has speed and a capable goalkeeper. Rich Thomas has allowed only 26 goals to be scored against him while Granite City's offense has put the puck into the opposing net 89 times.

Twelve different players have scored goals for Granite City, headed by 23 off the stick of Kenny Sabol.

John Krokovich has 14, Bryan Busin 11, Rich Foy 10, Gary Mainier seven, Joe Hassler and Greg Bauer six each, Benny Brown five, Bill Niescur three, Jeff Hillmer two and Will Connolly and Joe Juneau, one each.

The Patriots controlled the game from the opening tipoff, leading 14-4, 34-11 and 53-25 at the quarters. Dennis McCain scored 31, David Richardson 21 and Mark Warren 13.

Hospital tests plan in tornado drill

By VAL EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

"Everybody seemed to know what to do, everything was calm and the visitors appeared to take everything in stride." Such were the comments of one of the eight observers who toured St. Elizabeth Hospital during the tornado drill at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The statewide exercise was coordinated through the National Weather Forecast Office in cooperation with the State Board of Education, regional and local school superintendents and the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (Civil Defense).

Each local school participated with students moved away from outside walls, windows and large rooms, roofs not supported in the middle, such as gymnasiums.

St. Elizabeth Hospital usually practices its emergency drill routine at 10 a.m. on the first Tuesday of each month in conjunction with the sounding of the Granite City siren network.

Bernard T. Pinney, hospital safety and security director, said the regular drill was delayed to coordinate with Wednesday's exercise and to extend the hospital's role by encompassing a larger segment of the staff and visitors.

"A more realistic test to the fullest extent resulted, as the hospital's daily census yesterday showed a 100 per cent bed occupancy. A weekly orthopedic clinic also was taking place at the time," Pinney said.

Visitors arriving at the hospital were held in the lobby areas until the 12-minute test concluded. Patients being discharged, likewise were unable to leave the building.

Two spotters were assigned to a roof watch and one was placed at the top of a stairwell facing southwest, the usual approach path for a tornado, Pinney said.

He said that in the rooms of bedfast patients the drapes were closed over windows and beds were pushed together. The bedside curtains were drawn around the beds to protect patients from flying glass and the doors were left open.

Ambulatory patients and floor personnel lined up against the corridor walls and the doors were left open.

At the regular monthly drills four observers are stationed throughout the building to watch different areas and to submit a written critique following the exercise. Eight observers were used in Wednesday's test.

One observer commented: "On Pedi (Pediatrics), the children were out in the hall... curtains were pulled and everything looked good. I went down to I (Injury) and the patients were in the hall... curtains were pulled around the beds and also the curtains at the windows were pulled... the staff had things under control. I crossed over to ICU and the curtains were pulled and the staff was doing fine. I went back into the Recovery Room and things were just like normal but that was because there were no windows in that area."

Pinney said, "Everything looked real good. Everyone participated and we received full cooperation from patients, staff and the public."

As part of the Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency's (Civil Defense) role in the drill, a total of 25 units working as spotters participated.

Most were members of the CBERTS (Citizen Band Emergency Radio Team), a group affiliated with civil defense.

Eight mobile units were active in covering Madison, Pontoon Beach, Mitchell and Granite City areas, according to Victor H. Koenig, ESDA coordinator.

A base unit was activated in the Civil Defense Center, 1411 Nineteenth St., to coordinate information from the reporting spotters, he said.

Charge two in disturbance

William T. Burney, 18, of 2667 E. 23rd St., and Harold Lumpkins, 54, of 1700 Cleveland Blvd., were arrested at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 4:38 a.m. Wednesday and were charged with aggravated battery in connection with a disturbance Tuesday night.

Police first were called at 11:10 p.m. Tuesday to the home of Millard Martin, 3401 E. 23rd St., following a disturbance. Martin alleged six young men in a car had stopped and when his wife had talked to them, one young man struck her with his fist.

Martin said when he attempted to help her, one young man struck him with a board. During the disturbance, the windshield of the car, allegedly belonging to Lumpkins, was broken. A man in the car allegedly displayed a gun and threatened Martin.

Martin was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with multiple injuries following the disturbance, it was reported. Burney and Lumpkins suffered minor injuries and went to the hospital, where they were arrested, police reported.

Parishes plan Mission Sunday

In every Catholic parish throughout the Springfield Diocese, Sunday, March 14, will bring the annual Mission Sunday appeal to help more than 138,000 missionaries.

"They are making possible the mission of God's love in 844 mission dioceses in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Pacific Islands," the Rev. Kevin R. Sullivan, diocesan mission director, comments.

"In addition to helping missionaries, this special day of remembrance by prayer and sacrifice will assist 100,000 schools, 1,000 hospitals, 2,374 orphanages, 127 leproseries and 867 homes for the aged."

Rev. Sullivan, Catholic Mission Office, 800 S. 5th St., Springfield, is in charge of the appeal. Most Rev. Joseph A. McNicholas is bishop.

Lake owners alert to fish contamination

Landowners in the Horseshoe Lake area are awaiting results of laboratory tests by the Illinois Department of Conservation to determine to what extent, if any, fish in the lake may be contaminated by polychlorinated biphenyls, a chemical that could pose a health threat to persons who eat such fish.

William "Bill" Nichols, a resident and landowner in the lake area, said samples of fish, including buffalo, carp, channel catfish, striped bass and crappie, were taken from the lake last week by Charlie Marbut of the conservation department, for laboratory tests. He said results of the tests are expected in about two weeks.

"Meanwhile I would advise persons taking fish from the lake not to eat them," Nichols said. "We don't know if fish in the lake are contaminated beyond the allowable level of 5 parts per million allowed by the Federal Food and Drug Administration," Nichols said, adding that "it is best to play it safe until we get the results of the laboratory testing."

The action follows recent warnings by the FDA that fish in some downstate area lakes—particularly carp—contain 10 to 15 times more PCBs than is allowed. Accumulation of the chemical in the human body represents a potential health threat, officials said.

The chemical is used in industrial compounds and have been found to cause liver cancer and sterility in laboratory animals. Donald Heaton, regional FDA director, said Tuesday that the contamination may have been caused in southern Illinois lakes by carp brought from the Green Bay of Lake Michigan to restock the lakes.

Some owners of private fee fishing lakes already have taken steps to remove the threat of such contamination.

Mrs. John Cavar, who with her husband operates Johnny's Fishing Lake, Rural Route 20, Granite City, said tests were made of fish in that lake and were declared safe by FDA representatives. "We are convinced there is no danger in the fish in our lakes. We eat them ourselves," Mrs. Cavar said.

Robert Becker, operator of the Sandy Lake fee fishing area on state aid route 35, has drained his lake, removed all fish from the lake and restocked it, he reported Wednesday. Becker said he undertook the restocking to eliminate any fish in his lake which might be contaminated with polychlorinated biphenyls, a chemical that has made fish inedible in some lakes.

Becker said Sandy Lake was drained to six inches in mid-May by the Illinois Department of Conservation. Approximately 1,200 pounds of fish that were killed by the rotenone application were removed and taken to a landfill. He said the procedure has been certified by Kenneth O. Buercklin, an investigator of the Food and Drug Administration.

Duty of enforcement of the ordinance terms is placed with the City Inspection Department. The ordinance says the department shall have the duty of "inspecting every place of public resort where such automatic amusement devices and pinball machines are in operation periodically, to see that the licenses herein required are properly displayed and that provisions of this article are being complied with in all respects."

The amended ordinance requires owners of the amusement devices to file with the city proof of ownership of all devices placed in operation in Granite City locations.

Proprietors/operators of the devices are required to prohibit use of the machines by anyone under 18 years of age.

The amendment bill presented for passage Monday night also requires that operator of amusement devices who moves a machine, or machines, from one location to another, must inform the city of the new locations within 15 days of the change. Originally the bill provided 60 days for such notice, but the number was reduced to 15 days on a motion by Alderman Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward.

The mayor is empowered to revoke any license for violation of any terms of the ordinance. A fine of not less than $5 nor more than $300 is provided for each violation.

ETHNIC BICENTENNIAL FESTIVAL to be held in Madison July 2, 3 and 4 is gaining interest and support from within the community. Reviewing letters sent in by local organizations wishing to participate are, from left, clockwise around the table: Frank Papa, administrative assistant to Mayor Mike Sasyk; Mrs. Julie Voloski, a member of the festival committee; William Gushfield, chairman of the "Ethnic Festival," and Joseph Guda, president of the Croatian Home.

Many schools complying, Dr. Cronin reports

Many Illinois school districts are moving into compliance with state and federal laws concerning racial desegregation. State Superintendent Joseph M. Cronin reported to the State Board of Education at its monthly Chicago meeting last week.

Rock Island and Joliet, named for noncompliance in 1971, have prepared plans in view of revised rules—adopted by the State Board on Lincoln's Birthday—to meet the requirements of the Illinois School Code, Dr. Cronin said.

Chicago has prepared plans on faculty desegregation to submit to the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department, whose standards are the same as those of the State Board of Education.

School closings in Mount Vernon and Centralia bring these school systems toward full compliance, he adds.

Another dozen districts are actively preparing plans, it was indicated. Evanston and Oak Park, which were in compliance, have revised and updated their local desegregation and integration plans.

Meanwhile, Springfield awaits a federal court decision. And HEW has ordered the state to cut off the flow of any and all new federal funds to the Cahokia school district.

"Illinois school districts learning from the experience of other states shouldn't need expensive litigation or the painful cut-off of funds," Dr. Cronin said.

"If school boards will work toward eliminating racially identifiable schools and staffs, the State Board will not only be reasonable but will offer technical and other assistance," he predicted.

Nine districts named in 1972 and which have never filed acceptable plans were found in noncompliance and would be placed on probation within 30 days, according to the revised state rules.

"Probation does not mean loss of funds or loss of full state recognition," Dr. Cronin explained, "but it will nudge most districts into preparing or submitting plans for compliance."

Plans, the State Board has agreed, can include magnet schools, the pairing of schools, grade-exchange programs, new construction or school closings, and several other choices.

The School Code prevents the state from ordering binding as a remedy, but a local board may include transportation in its plans, Dr. Cronin revealed that.

"The HEW is watching the state closely, since it distributes $280 million of federal funds to Illinois schools."

Ethnic festival in Madison to be a major celebration

Food, fun and fellowship will prevail at the Ethnic Bicentennial Festival to be held in Madison July 2, 3 and 4 on the St. Mary's church grounds.

"America is known as the melting pot and we in Madison feel that this nation has become great largely due to the many ethnic cultures that have contributed much to our freedom and way of life," William Gushfield, chairman of the event, said.

"In keeping with the Bicentennial, we will have a celebration in Madison that will be of interest to the whole area. Several ethnic groups will have interesting booths of a cultural nature."

"Special foods native to several foreign countries, will be featured and this promises to be a real gourmet treat."

"In addition to the several varieties of food, there will be numerous ethnic music groups, and games for adults and children."

Chairman Gushfield said that an open invitation to all Madison organizations wishing to participate has been extended. At a meeting during the weekend in the Madison city hall, the chairman emphasized that a letter must be written to the committee by organizations wishing to participate. The letter must state specifically the type of booth desired, name of the organization, name, address and phone number of the person to be in charge of the booth or activity and sent to Frank Papa at the city hall.

George Amish, in charge of music and entertainment, reported that musical groups already signed up to participate include: "Happy Strings Junior Tamburitzaans," "Danica Tamburitzaans," "Little Cosacks," and the "Balaika Orchestra with Russian Folk Dancers."

Amish said that several other groups have expressed interest in participating.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Mary Ann Kaminski, Mrs. Georgia Stawar, W. F. "Mick" Strange, Gary Gravelle, Mrs. Janet Sholtz, Mrs. Helen Baran, Mrs. Ella Crnkovich, Frank J. Kierski, James Riskovsky, Mrs. Constantine Michaeloff, John Kibbons, Mrs. Julie Pearce, Mrs. Winnie Sasyk, Rev. Vladimir Lecko, Mrs. Julie Voloski, John Dutko, Damian Caffrey, Amish and Gushfield. Organizations already signed up to participate, in addition to the musical groups, are Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern

Orthodox Church, St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Nativity of the Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church, Madison Junior Service Club, Explorers Post 10-4, Madison Fire Department, Khoury League, Madison Lions Club, Catholic Youth Transit Association, Amvets, Knights of Columbus, and the Madison Mother's Club.

A meeting for representatives of organizations interested in participating has been set for 10 a.m. Saturday, March 20 at the Madison City Hall, 1529 Third St., Madison.

Pontoon Beach Trustee Loren Madison on Monday denied speculation that he would have seconded a motion at the Pontoon Beach Village Board meeting Friday night to fill a vacancy on the board with the appointment of Mrs. Lillian Singer.

At the request of Village Board President Floyd David Moss, Mrs. Singer's name was brought before the board by Trustee Keith Biggs for appointment but the motion died for lack of a second.

Some political observers in the village had said that Madison was unable to attend the meeting, might have seconded the motion, since Madison has voted in favor of several of Moss' proposals recently.

Madison said Monday evening he was unable to attend the meeting but would have if it had been possible. He said he would not have seconded the motion to appoint Mrs. Singer, adding, "I vote for what I think is right and not what anyone else tells me to vote for."

A vacancy on the board of trustees has existed since Trustee Paul Bennett resigned Nov. 20. Bennett is opposing Moss in his bid to be re-elected as Democratic precinct committeeman in Nameoki Precinct One. Mrs. Singer also is a resident of Precinct One.

Wouldn't have seconded motion—Loren Madison

James R. Heil of Godfrey has been named Madison County coordinator for the President Ford Committee campaign in Illinois.

"The President and his campaign people called the outcome correctly in New Hampshire, where he won 50 percent of the delegates. I will be working for 100 per cent in Madison County," Heil said.

Richard R. Ogilvie, state chairman, praised the selection, adding that "no matter how much is spent for staff and advertising, the success of a campaign finally rests on the Jim Heils who work in their own areas."

Heil is one of two Republicans on the Madison County Board. An attorney, he is also a member of the newly-created Greater St. Louis Health Service Agency, the Madison County chapter of the American Cancer Society and the Madison County Republican Citizens Council.

The School Code prevents the state from ordering binding as a remedy, but a local board may include transportation in its plans, Dr. Cronin revealed that.

One hundred and twenty mental health service workers throughout Madison County and St. Clair County were invited to attend.

The featured speakers included Ronald Olson, Esq., Department of Mental Health, legal council who presented information on confidentiality, privilege and liability and Ivan Pavlovic, MD, deputy director, Department of Mental Health, who spoke on treatment rights and civil liberties. Three District 25 candidates

CHRIS VON NIDA

Chris Von Nida, 48, of 2322 E. 24th St., a 25-year National Auto Supply salesman and an eight-year Democratic committeeman, is running in the March 16 Democratic primary for nomination to the Madison County Board in District 25. He is a member of the Granite City Housing Authority.

A resident of Granite City 37 years, Von Nida was born in Middlesboro, Ky. He attended Granite City schools and has been active in Sacred Heart Church and the Knights of Columbus.

Affiliations include the Eagles and park sports programs. He is chairman of Eagles Aerie 1128 Aid to Senior Citizens. There are five children in the Von Nida family.

He favors a flat salary for board members, with no pay for missed meetings. He would continue county nursing home and shelter care programs.

Von Nida adds, "I would vote for or against matters before the County Board on their merit and not on political expedience. I would make public my personal financial status and list property holdings. I would strive to eliminate financial waste wherever I found it."

JOE BOYER

Joe Boyer, 33, a Democratic District 25 Madison County Board candidate, is a lifelong resident of District 25. He and his wife, Virginia, and son, Greg, reside at 3320 VFW Lane, State Park Place.

He is employed as a sales representative by Borben-Vue and Company in St. Louis.

Boyer comments, "I am concerned that anyone would consider doing anything less than we are doing for the elderly of our county. In fact, we are doing far too little for the forgotten senior citizens."

"I would like to see a broadening of the county nursing home program to insure that, regardless of means or financial capability, every aged person in our county could be afforded the kind of care to which he is so richly entitled."

"I strongly advocate greater emphasis on law enforcement, crime prevention, safeguarding the security of the people and protecting them against the criminal element."

"I take a strong position against industrial pollution. I have an extensive background in business and feel that now, more than ever, the county needs to be run in a more efficient, businesslike manner."

"I am concerned about the welfare and the quality of life for all the people of this district. I am capable of reflecting the thoughts and attitudes of the people, and will speak out for them."

Sewer TV

lacks the strength to support the lines, he added.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer and Assistant Superintendent of Streets James Stack joined in the presentation and the television views illustrated the success in some instances in repairing sewer breaks from within.

One 260-foot section was repaired by a city crew in two weeks, and the technique is being perfected, reducing the time for such a task to three or four days, Portell said.

Video and other equipment obtained by the city government on the recommendation of the mayor's citizen commission, City Council and Sverdrup and Parcel Engineers is enabling lists to be developed of sewers that can be repaired in this way and those that must be replaced entirely, the club was told.

Once it is determined which areas need replacement and which can be repaired by the city, the latter work perhaps covering a five-year period, it will be possible to determine the overall cost of a sewer solution, it was noted.

Rotarians praised the activity and Program Chairman John Polson stressed the importance to the Quad-City area's future of placing all sewers in working order.

Portell said there have been 44 breaks in lines of 8-inch to 15-inch diameter. Bypass pumping continues at ten locations. Repair grouting follows cleaning and sealing, all accomplished by remote control while watching the TV monitor, he explained.

A three-week-old baby girl was found without signs of life in her crib at 6:30 a.m. today and was pronounced dead at home, 1777 Maple St.

Amy Lynn Odam, the infant daughter of Frankie and Gula Odam, was found by her father in the crib after she was believed to have suffocated.

An ambulance and police officers found the baby face-down on a pillow in the crib. She was pronounced dead by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

The parents said the baby had been troubled at 11:30 p.m. yesterday by excess mucus in her nose and had been choking before being put to bed. The mother used a bulb to clean the infant's nose and said she placed her face-down in the crib to aid the nose draining.

The infant's body was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for examination.

Other survivors include a 2-year-old sister, Nelly Odam, and grandparents, Frank Odam of Granite City and Mr. and Mrs. Verlin (Norma) Rogers of Edwardsville.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

MADISON FIEMEN IN ACTION. The Madison Fire department was called twice Tuesday to extinguish a fire in a vacant house at 2100 Hildebrand St. in the Cloverleaf addition. Firemen were at the scene first from 2:35 a.m. until 5:05 a.m. and were called back at 8 a.m. Water presented a problem as there are no fire hydrants in the area. Firemen had to refill the tanker in the background, which holds 1,500 gallons of water, three times and their fire truck, which holds 750 gallons of water, had to be filled twice the first time out. The house was vacant and firemen at this time do not know the cause of the fire or the identity of the owner.

Firemen called to hospital

Granite City firemen were called to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday after someone ignited paper in a trash container in a first floor washroom near the out-patient area.

Hospital officials halted the flames with fire extinguishers before firemen arrived. There was no damage.

Firemen also extinguished two other fires Tuesday, one which destroyed the auto of Richard Doty, 2740 Center St., in the 1700 block of Pontoon Road at 11:45 p.m.

The car's engine was believed to have overheated and started the gasoline line on fire. Damage was estimated at $900. Firemen were on the scene 20 minutes.

Vandals damage home on Lynch

Vandals broke into a vacant house at 2102 Nameoki Road during the past two weeks and caused extensive damage to the interior, Ed Schmidt, 2533 Lynch Ave., the owner, reported at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Schmidt showed police where the bathtub had been pulled from the wall. Walls in the bedroom had holes kicked in them and cigarette butts and beer cans were spread throughout the house. The hot water heater was stolen from the basement. Also taken were two bed linen.

Entry was gained by forcing a picklock off a cellar door at the rear of the house and then forcing a door frame away from the wall to get through an interior doorway from the basement to the living area.

A neighborhood reported seeing a boy and a girl, about 15 or 16 years-of-age, going into the vacant house.

Vocational school representative to visit Pontoon CYS

Greg Schmieg, deputy director of co-ordinated youth services (CYS), and Donald D. Patrick, counselor at the Pontoon Beach office, have announced that Paul S. Chamberlain, representative for Bailey Technical School, will visit the Pontoon Beach office.

Chamberlain will be at the Pontoon Beach office on the first and third Fridays of each month from 9:30 to 11 a.m. to meet with anyone interested in receiving vocational training.

Chamberlain said that Bailey Technical School, a product of ITT (International Telephone & Telegraph) Educational Services, Chamberlain added that Bailey bases its operating philosophy on three significant forces now exerting their influence on students and industry.

"First, we realize that post-high school training should present a dignified alternative to a four-year college. The alternative is career training to equip our students with skills necessary for a successful career.

"Second, technological changes now occur at a rate faster than ever before. ITT Educational Services seeks to respond to any change which may be required in our specific skill training programs.

"The third force which influences our philosophy is the request by many social action groups, that is, tax-supported government agencies, for the inclusion of basic educational components in career training programs. ITTES has, therefore, added remedial reading, math and similar disciplines to its basic curriculum to meet this need.

"That, basically, is our philosophy... namely, an awareness of, and response to new influences and new needs of our students and their potential employers," Chamberlain said.

Bailey Technical School is located at 9750 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis. The school was founded by Clyde W. Bailey in 1935 and the first course, Diesel Mechanics, was offered the same year.

Automotive training was added to the curriculum in 1941. The school was incorporated in Missouri in December 1956 under the name Bailey Technical School, Inc.

In April 1968 the school became a part of the network of schools owned by ITT Educational Services, Inc. Patrick stated that anyone in Pontoon Beach and Nameoki Township area wishing to make an appointment, regardless of age may contact the Pontoon Beach CYS office at 393-2700.

The Pontoon Beach CYS office is located at 3939 Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach.

Madison asks $4,700 in suit against EOC

The City of Madison, through its corporation counsel, George Filcoff Jr., has filed suit against the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission (EOC) in a dispute over ownership of several kitchen appliances.

The suit seeks judgment for $3,700 as the cost of the items, and $1,000 in damages.

The complaint charges that EOC unlawfully removed a three-basin sink, dishwasher, gas stove and parts of a refrigerator-freezer from the West Madison Recreation Center when EOC was operating a day care center there.

Part of the agreement in consideration for low rent was that EOC would remodel the kitchen and make other improvements which were to remain part of the building.

When the day care center moved in January the EOC staff members allegedly took the items in question with them.

After the Jan. 13 City Council meeting, when the matter was brought up, Edward P. Schenk, executive director of EOC, said he thought a compromise probably could be reached, but he needed time to meet with his board.

Schenk told the Press-Record that he wrote Mayor Mike Sasyk a letter two weeks ago asking for a meeting to "work something out," but the mayor had not responded to the letter.

Schenk said he would withhold comment at this time in regard to the suit as he has not been notified that a suit has been filed.

Mayor Sasyk said, "I have not received a letter from Schenk or anyone else in regard

Deal with known firms, consumer director says

By DR. ROWENA LUTZ
Consumer Information Director Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In our economy, the American consumer can be guaranteed certain rights. The Kennedy Administration identified such rights as: the right to be informed about goods or services; the right to reasonable choice of goods at a fair price; the right to protection against fraud or dishonesty by the merchant; and the right to protection against products that might endanger life.

Various agencies of the government concerned with consumer information help to interpret and implement these rights.

However, the individual consumer must assume responsibility in order to maintain the rights he has.

This could include the following suggestions: being honest in the market place; learning more about consumer products; supporting laws that are in the consumer's interest.

Also, reading labels carefully; doing cost and value comparison on products and services; and directing for use or care of products; and dealing with reliable merchants.

Many consumers get into financial difficulty when buying from dealers who will not "back up" their merchandise.

It is much easier to take time to compare, ask questions, to know the terms of a purchasing agreement and to know the seller, than to get money "back" on a faulty item.

Second burglary

For the second time in recent weeks, the home and office of architect Henry R. Gabriel was broken into, it was discovered at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

A wooden panel in the door to the rear porch was broken and the door opened. A window pane in the door from the porch to the kitchen was removed and a bar across the inside of the door was removed by reaching through the window opening.

There were burned matches found around the safe, but the safe had not been opened. Nothing was believed taken.

Students meet on volunteerism

Five students from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will participate in a conference on volunteerism and service learning today through Saturday at the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago.

Representatives from colleges and universities will meet to discuss their individual human service and volunteer programs. Coordinated by Trilon College in River Grove, the conference will consist of several workshops designed to help the participants evaluate and improve their programs.

Subjects to be discussed include recruiting and training of volunteers, developing new programs, program funding methods and professionalism.

SIUE students who will participate in the conference include Dave Sampson and Brenda Henry, both of Edwardsville; Sandy Townzen, Granite City; Kathy Williams, Brownstown; and Bob Kampworth, Bunker Hill. The students are board members of the SIUE Community Involvement Project, a service program that recruits volunteers to fill community needs.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER program participants gather to finalize plans. Sponsored locally by Church Women United of the Quad-Cities, the special program will take place at 9:30 a.m. Friday at the United Methodist Church of Madison, Fifth Street and Ewing Avenue, to coincide with similar programs occurring the same day throughout the world. First row, from left to

Altar Society hears students

Final plans were made by St. Elizabeth Altar Society for a St. Patrick's dance, set Saturday night, during a meeting held last week in the school cafeteria.

Tickets costing $2 per person are available by calling Dick or Dorothy Votopoul, it was announced. Beer, pretzels, popcorn and soda will be served from 8 p.m. to midnight.

President John Mary Blankenship welcomed 70 members and introduced Sister Margaret Mary, school principal, who presented students who participated in a recent speech contest held in Altan.

Students who gave talks were Rhonda and Bobby Hiler, Greg Powderly, Sue Burnett, Tim Powderly, Chris Clay, Wendy McIlroy and Michelle Mahan.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. Pat Lotus on a quilt project; Mrs. Joan Beatty on the World Day of Prayer, set Friday morning at the Madison United Methodist Church, and Mrs. Dorothy Votopoul on new religious books in the school library.

Mrs. Rosalie Bronnbauer gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Agnes Friedel reviewed the financial statement.

Mrs. Carol Patterson and Mrs. Delores Scaturro served as hostesses with the mothers of the fourth grade class. They served assorted cakes and coffee and used a St. Patrick's Day theme in the table appointments.

The fourth and fifth grade won a prize for the largest attendance by parents. Other prizes went to Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Marge Noth.

Chapter tours historic home

Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority toured the Chataillon-DeMent House during the weekend. The home and buildings were built by the famous fur trader, guide and buffalo hunter and are preserved by the St. Louis Heritage Historic Homes Society.

The group was told the income derived from tours, luncheons and gift shop is used to maintain the buildings.

Dr. DeMent purchased the home from the Chataillons and lived there until 1930. The present home is filled with many relics and antiques of the 1800's, according to the club members.

Those enjoying the tour and luncheon in the Carriage House were Ruth Stoyanoff, Jane Laude, Pat Tuganoff, Evelyn Tolliver, Arlene Haldean, Norma Rains and Delores Dorch.

During the afternoon the women also visited the open Soudard market in St. Louis.

World Day of Prayer at Madison church Friday

The United Methodist Church of Madison will host the Church Women United World Day of Prayer celebration Friday, beginning with registration at 9 a.m.

According to Mrs. John Gordon, coordinator of the days of celebration, the theme of this year's observance will be "Concerns of the World," and will feature as program participants several of the area's leading church women, with

Pi Eta plans daughters' tea

A legacy program and tea for the daughters of Pi Eta Chapter members, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, were planned for March 4 at a meeting Monday evening, hosted by Mrs. Judy Onesty at her home in Collinsville.

Vice-president Mrs. Wanita Graham was in charge of the business session. She led a discussion on plans for the group to attend a state convention tonight in Centralia.

Arrangements also were made for a potluck dinner and party honoring husbands of members on March 27.

Others present were Donna Yehling, Beverly Bennett, Jerry Turner and a guest, Sandy Ashcraft.

Past matrons plan dinner April 10

Mrs. Betty Ebrecht was hostess to the Past Matrons Club of Granite Chapter 88, Order of Eastern Star, Monday night at a session held in her home.

The newly elected president, Mrs. Rachel Larson, was in charge of the meeting. She announced two members, Mrs. Eva Shearer and Mrs. Marge Brannan, are reported ill.

Tentative plans were discussed for a holiday party. After the meeting games were enjoyed and prizes were won by Mesdames Frances Williams, Clara Harbig, Bess Henley and Louise Meador.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to those named and to Mesdames Betty McClintock, Karmyn Edmonds, Mary Bilbey, Florence Spohr, Sadie Jones, Hulda Griffiths, Hannah Kleinachmidt, Fairy Bohman, Virginia John and Arelen Fox.

The next meeting will be the annual past matrons and past patron's dinner on April 10 at the Masonic Temple.

Brownie Troop 728 at 'Thinking Day'

Brownie Troop 728 of Washington School attended District IV's Thinking Day celebration at the SUE campus this week.

The international students presented a program of foreign dances, songs and a foreign fashion show. Those attending were Sandra Griffith, Tammy Singleton, Kim Ramsey, Sandy Diak, Sherry Chronister, Michelle Edwards and Tammy Hyatt, accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. Ginny Ramsey and Mrs. Carol Griffith.

Kim Ramsey was among those chosen to present certificates of thanks to the students. She presented hers to Ali Hekmat of Persia. Refreshments were served after the program. The students signed their autographs for the girls.

Area residents are invited to attend the special series of services being held at St. John Church each Sunday morning, the Rev. Paul R. Surbey, pastor, said.

FORMER RESIDENTS NAME SON CHAD CHRISTOPHER
Mr. and Mrs. Chris Follis of Fredericktown, Mo., former residents, are announcing the birth of their first child, a boy, born on Feb. 29 at the Farmington (Mo.) Hospital.

The new arrival has been named Chad Christopher. He weighed seven pounds, 10 ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Follis, 2829 Lynch Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Sanders of Fredericktown. The great-grandmother, Mrs. Ollie Mae Follis, resides in Gadsden, Tenn.

MR. AND MRS. ANTHONY WIEHARDT, who were married at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ. The bride is the former Gale Lynn Fett, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Fett, 2203 Edwards St.

Wiehardt-Fett wedding at St. Peter's Church

Burning tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the sanctuary of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ for the wedding on Feb. 7 of Miss Gale Lynn Fett and Anthony Craig Wiehardt.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Fett, 2203 Edwards St. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Wiehardt, reside at 2532 E. 27th St.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m. was the Rev. Robert L. Kettelhut.

Serving as candlelighters were Nancy Milton and Diane Dix, cousins of the groom.

The bride wore a white chiffonette gown fashioned in an Empire silhouette, featuring an English net yoke traced with Cluny and Belgium lace and etched with pearls.

Floral bejeweled lace motifs accented the high neckline and long, full shepherdess sleeves and cuffs. A deep ruffled flounce, topped with the decorative lace, marked the hem of the full skirt which formed a chapel train.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and baby's breath.

The bridesmaids were dressed alike in Nile green jersey semi-halter gowns designed with V-necklines, enhanced with shirwaist style collars. They wore emerald green velvet jackets with long sleeves. The cuffs were trimmed in Nile green.

Each held a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers in pastel shades of yellow, pink, green and white.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Greg Fett, a sister-in-law of the bride. The bridesmaids included Miss Denise Stanley, Mrs. Mike Greenwell, Mrs. Jack LaPiere and Miss Karen Robertson.

The groom selected Jack LaPiere as his best man. Groomsmen were Greg Fett, a brother of the bride, and Erik, Vincent and Kevin Wiehardt, the groom's brothers.

Escorting the guests to their seats were Michael Davis and Terry Baker.

Janet Jakich, a cousin of the bride, attended the guest book at a reception held at the Croatian Home in Madison.

After a wedding trip to Daytona Beach, Fla., the newlyweds are now residing in Granite City.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiehardt, parents of the groom, entertained the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner given in their home.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Wiehardt, appeared in a floor-length yellow knit dress with accessories in matching hues. They both wore white cymbidium orchids.

Both the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Wiehardt are graduates of Granite City High School. The bride also graduated in 1975 from Eastern Illinois University with a B.S. degree in education. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha and presently a substitute teacher in the Granite City School District.

The groom is attending Belleville Area College and works as a computer operator for American Steel Foundries.

Guild views hobby program

Mrs. Dorothea Kirksey and Mrs. Ruth Malottki presented a two-part program for members of the Evening Guild at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ Monday evening.

Mrs. Kirksey displayed her hobby—a rock collection and showed a special polishing procedure. Mrs. Malottki spoke on drying and arranging flowers and featured several arrangements to illustrate her talk.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Lorraine Williams and Mrs. Helene Kettelhut on the subject, "What Does the Lord Require of Me," as a preserver of the planet Earth in relation to ecology.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Thelma Markgraf in the absence of the president, Mrs. Bea Rittenhouse.

Mrs. Ruth Brave reported a second quilt made for the Hitz Home in Alhambra has been completed. She also reminded members of a canning and preserving clinic to be held at the church March 24, which is open to the public.

Tickets costing $1.50 for the clinic were distributed by Mrs. Brave to guild members. Kathryn Barnes, home economist for the Kerr Glass Manufacturing Co., will give a talk and demonstration at the event. Mrs. Brave said coffee and rolls will be served from 9 to 9:30 a.m. followed by the film. Prizes will be awarded after the session.

Color gospel film at Central Baptist
"The Land Where Jesus Walked," a new Technicolor gospel film featuring Dr. John R. Rice, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 12 at the Central Baptist Church, 3910 Highway 111.

The public is invited and there is no admission charge, said Rev. John Lamb, pastor.

He noted Kevin's 15-minute color feature film stars a "host of great Christian actors and actresses."

The pastor said scenes in the movie include "the stoning of Stephen, his death and rise to Heaven; the Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ; and Mary, Joseph and the Wise Men with the infant Jesus in the Nativity."

This is a spiritual experience for the whole family, as one of the greatest arrays of Biblical scenes can be seen in the film," the Rev. Lamb stressed.

Gonzalez fund dance Saturday

A dance at the Mexican Honorary Commission Hall, 1801 Spruce St., at 8 p.m. Saturday will benefit the Joseph M. Gonzalez Scholarship Fund. The affair is open to the public. Tickets cost $1.50 each and may be purchased at the door Saturday evening. Music for dancing will be provided by the Wayne Scannell Band.

Mexican food also will be served, according to Robert Robles, commission president. The fund was established in memory of Joseph M. Gonzalez, a Granite City High School guidance counselor, who was fatally injured in an auto accident on June 17, 1970. He was a member of the commission.

Two scholarships are awarded each year from the fund to deserving high school seniors who demonstrate financial need and scholastic ability. Scholarship applications may be obtained after April 1 from the guidance office at either Granite City High School.

Douglas

State University researchers say.

Douglas was born in Brandon, Vt., in 1813. Years later, he displayed his tactlessness if not his opinion of the East, when he told a Vermont audience that "Vermont is the most glorious spot on the face of this earth for a man to be born in, providing he emigrates when he is very young."

Douglas came west in 1833 and settled as a schoolmaster in Winchester, Ill.

"I came out here when I was a boy," he said, "and found my mind liberalized and my opinions enlarged when I got on these broad prairies, with only the heavens to bound my vision, instead of having them circumscribed by the little narrow ridges that surrounded the valley where I was born."

Douglas did experience remarkably rapid success in Illinois.

He licensed to practice law at Jacksonville in 1834, he was selected state's attorney for the First Judicial District in 1835.

An organizer of the Democratic political machine in the state, he was elected to the legislature; ran unsuccessfully for Congress against John T. Stuart, Lincoln's first law partner, in 1837; and in 1841 came within five legislative votes of gaining a United States senatorship, a year short of the required age.

In 1840, he had been named secretary of state of Illinois, and shortly thereafter received one of the five new judgeships in the reorganized state Supreme Court.

In 1843, at the age of 30 and only 10 years after his arrival in Winchester, "Judge" Douglas was elected to Congress.

In 1847, Douglas was appointed to the United States Senate and immediately became chairman of the Committee on Territories.

He operated at the focus of pressures from Northerners requesting Congress to halt the extension of slavery, and Southerners who were equally insistent that citizens should not be prevented from taking slaves into the territories.

It was in that year, also, that his perspective on political reality led him to move to Chicago and to identify himself with the city's commercial interests.

It was Douglas who directed the Illinois Central Railroad Bill through Congress in 1850.

A few years later, he was pressing for three transcontinental railroads, one of them with its eastern terminus in Chicago, as a means of uniting the country politically and economically.

He had a strong but practical and unphilosophical view of the union.

In the 1850s, the problem of slavery in the territories dominated national political life. Douglas' Committee on Territories approved a bill in January 1854, with a report stating that questions of slavery in the territories should be left to the people who lived there.

A Southern attempt to open the territories to slavery by amending the new bill led to the Kansas-Nebraska Bill in its final form.

Douglas coined the phrase "popular sovereignty" to describe his view of the new principle by which slavery would be introduced or rejected in the territories.

It seemed to him to be an eminently practical solution. Though the bill was contested in the House of Representatives, Douglas masterminded its passage, forced it through the Senate before a brilliant onslaught of rhetoric, and won the respect of his bitter enemies for his political effectiveness.

As always, Douglas used oratory as a weapon. He was never flowery, never weak, never uncertain, and showed out bursts of irresistible arguments peppered by well-placed facts.

His techniques also built a phalanx of bitter enemies. Unfortunately, the Kansas-Nebraska Act, which Douglas promised would quiet sectional antagonisms, increased them tremendously.

In 1857, the LeCompton Convention adopted a constitution for Kansas which recognized the right of property in slaves.

Douglas denounced the constitution as a travesty on popular sovereignty, broke from the pro-slavery Democrats, and was primarily responsible for the defeat of the LeCompton Constitution.

As far as Pres. James Buchanan's support of it was concerned, Douglas boasted, "By God, sir, I made James Buchanan, and by God, sir, I will unmake him!"

Douglas was opposed by Abraham Lincoln in his 1858 campaign for re-election to the Senate.

They engaged in a famous series of debates throughout Illinois, with slavery in the territories as the issue. Douglas won the election.

The Democratic Party split in 1860 in spite of Douglas' efforts to reorganize it and to quash disunion. Although party disunity ruined his chance for election, Douglas alone among the Presidential candidates in 1860 drew votes from every section of the country, and his total vote fell less than 500,000 short of Lincoln's.

In the last months of the campaign, Douglas realized the impossibility of his election and also his own ill health.

He did not withdraw, but instead demonstrated the highest moral courage by traveling into slave territory, denouncing disunion, and warning Southerners that if secession came as a result of Lincoln's election it would be unjustified and lead to war.

If he were President, he said, he would hang anyone who attempted to resist the force of the United States Constitution. He was convinced before other major national figures, however, that secession was inevitable.

Douglas spent the last weeks of Buchanan's administration working for compromise and gave total support to Abraham Lincoln in the early days of his administration, moving through the Northwest in an attempt to arouse people to the seriousness of the crisis.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Thurs., March 4, 1976 Page 23

Soon after delivering a moving speech on the threat to the nation at Springfield on April 25, 1861, Douglas was stricken by typhoid fever and died.

He represented faith in the popular will and in national growth and strength, and an unconquerable optimism in America.

GC school board ok's agreements

The Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night approved two-year working agreements with the union representing the district's secretaries and cafeteria workers.

The board approved the agreements except for a provision which would have reclassified two secretarial positions and a memo was sent to Building Service Employees Local 98, the union representing the secretaries and cafeteria workers, noting the board had accepted the agreements with exception of the two positions.

Although the secretaries and cafeteria workers had ratified the agreements prior to them being submitted to the board for final approval, it is not known if further ratification by the secretaries will be necessary due to the board's change. The agreements increase the hourly pay of secretaries by 25 cents in the first year and about 26 to 28 cents in the second year. Secretaries wages now range from $3.52 per hour to $4.40 per hour in the highest class and with 11 years of service.

The increase for cafeteria workers is 20 cents per hour in the first year and 22 cents in subsequent steps. The cafeteria workers hourly wages now range from $3.08 to $3.39.

In other action the board suspended a tenured teacher, citing a new state law, and allowed teachers to be suspended until state hearing officers conduct a hearing on the cases.

Permission was given to Robert F. Maxwell, vocational director for the district, to seek prices for architect to design a new building to house an auto mechanics shop at Granite City High School North. There is $120,000 in the buildings account which the board has earmarked for construction of the shop between the school and Rowland Lanes. A pre-engineered metal building is envisioned.

Unclear new Pontoon purchase law studied

Wordings of an ordinance passed by the Pontoon Beach Village Board Feb. 13, is being discussed by some village officials, who question whether the ordinance gives the village board president and clerk authority to make purchases of up to $1,500 without board approval.

Ordinance 239 provides for competitive bidding on items costing $1,500 or more. It could, if misused, allow any village board president or village clerk to make purchases of less than $1,500 without board approval, citizens feel.

While all other sections of the ordinance deal with procedures for purchases of over $1,500, section two deals with the lesser purchases.

That section states, "Contracts for the purchase of supplies and equipment of the value of less than $1,500 and all contracts for public works—when the expense thereof is less than $1,500—may be entered into on behalf of and be binding on the village by the president, the village clerk or other persons expressly authorized by ordinance or resolution of the village board."

The disagreement centers on whether the words "authorized by ordinance or resolution of the village board" pertain to the president and village clerk, or whether they pertain only to "other persons."

Village Board President

Floyd David Moss said he interpreted the ordinance as requiring him to telephone all purchases in an emergency situation and obtain their permission before making a decision, but not having to call a special meeting of the board in an emergency situation. The ordinance does not define an emergency situation.

Moss said, however, that he plans to further review the ordinance to determine whether it does give him and the clerk excessive spending power.

The methods of purchasing items of $1,500 or more are not being disputed; the ordinance calls for competitive bidding, the lowest responsible bidder. It does not, however, stipulate that approval of the bid be on a vote of the village board.

Some say state law requires a majority board vote for accepting bids.

All purchase orders or contracts which shall not require public bids may be let in the open market in a manner calculated to insure the best interests of the public after solicitation by bids by mail, telephone or otherwise," the ordinance says.

Trustee Duane Skinner also has indicated he is reviewing the ordinance and will initiate action to change it, if the board feels it has granted too much purchasing power to the president or clerk.

BETROTHED. Miss Marie K. Beljanski and her fiancé, Daniel A. Noeth. Their engagement and approaching marriage are being announced by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Kathleen Beljanski, 2200 Manley Ave. A Sept. 3 wedding date has been set.

Miss Marie K. Beljanski to wed

Mrs. Kathleen Beljanski, 2200 Manley Ave., is announcing the betrothal and forthcoming wedding of her daughter, Miss Marie K. Beljanski, to Daniel A. Noeth. The bride-elect also is the daughter of the late Joseph M. Beljanski. She is a graduate of Granite City High School and Western Illinois University. Miss Beljanski presently is employed as an assistant buyer at S&K, Baer and Fuller in St. Louis.

Her fiancé is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Noeth, 40 Terrace Lane. A graduate of Granite City High School, he is in his senior year at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, majoring in marketing. The prospective bridegroom also is employed as store manager at Leader's Department Store at Crossroads Shopping Center. Arrangements are being completed by the engaged couple and their families for a Sept. 3 wedding.

Free tax aid for seniors

Mrs. Vina Law, president of the local chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons, announced four volunteers are offering a tax aid program to assist any senior citizen with his or her income tax at Anchorage Recreation Center.

The free service is provided from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each Monday and Thursday, Mrs. Law added.

The chapter met at the Senior Citizen Center, 1918 Edison Ave. Reports were given by treasurer Charles Kelly, secretary Grace Range and Vernice Walter, state associate director, on a recent public relations session held in her home.

Mrs. Helen Bertacchi said reservations have been made for a "touch of nature" tour to Little Grassy Lake, Carbondale, on May 19 and 21.

An all-day outing on June 11 to the Black Madonna Shrine and Grant's Farm also has been arranged, according to Mrs. Elina Hoover.

Mrs. Law described activities of the Rhythm Band, noting the group has played for the Seafarers Club at the First United Presbyterian Church, residents of Colonial Heights, Nursing Home and at a birthday party given by the United Presbyterian Women's Organization. She also announced the band has been invited to play at the Senior Citizens Fair at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on March 24 and at the Bicentennial Senior Fair in May. Two workshops for officers will be conducted in Roxana, April 8 and at Vandana May 3. Mrs. Law reported she said members also are being urged to attend the S&K Fair and the Senior Fair and show at Belle Clair Fairgrounds, Belleville, April 30, as well as the Bicentennial Show at the St. Louis Arena.

The next regular meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 10, at Collidge Junior High School. The new arrival weighed eight pounds and has been named Angela Michele. Her brother, Michael Christopher, is 4 years old.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wasylak of Granite City. The paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Ellis, live in Collinsville. Louis Pastawko of Granite City and Harold Loehr of Mount Vernon, Ind., are the maternal great-grandfathers.

TRY A PRESS-RECORD CLASSIFIED AD

A special showing of the color movie, "The Snow Queen," adapted from Hans Christian Andersen's widely read story, is planned Saturday, March 13, at the Washington Theater under sponsorship of the Granite City Jaycees.

Arranged as a matinee for the entire family, "The Snow Queen" will be shown at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. March 13. Tickets, costing $1 each, may be purchased in advance from any Jaycee member, at the box office at the Washington Theater, or from Sherwin Williams Paint Store in Bellmore Village Shopping Center.

Those holding advance tickets will be eligible to receive a 10-speed bicycle as a special gift, according to Jaycee officers. Tickets also may be obtained at the theater on the day of the show, but may not be used in the bicycle contest, they explained. Special group rates can be arranged by contacting the theater manager, Charles VanBibber, a Jaycee member, during regular operating hours. Described as a "timeless tale of love, devotion and the strength of goodness over evil," the "Snow Queen" features special effects mixing

Isabel Bevier plans events

Isabel Bevier Unit of the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association met in the home of Mrs. Leona Cease, 1339 W. Pontoon Road, for a monthly meeting and potluck dinner, featuring dishes prepared from a lesson on Mexican cookery. Chairman Mrs. Lucille Lipe presided at the session. The May district meeting was discussed by planning chairman Mrs. Norma McCormick and her committee, Mrs. Rufus Ramsay and Mrs. Genevieve McComis. Mrs. Lipe and Mrs. Helen Love displayed a needle-point and wicker basket exhibit made at a craft school. The group agreed to attend a craft session on March 23 at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Dorothy McCormick, 3132 Aubrey Ave. Citizenship chairman Mrs. Velma DeVine read an article on the importance of voting in the March 16 election. Other announcements included a membership drive, set for this week through April 30 by Mrs. Irene Dawes, membership chairman, and a report on the symptoms and preventions in relation to "flu" was given by Mrs. Norma Jean Ross. The next meeting will be March 25 at the home of Mrs. Angie Brown, Thorngate Drive, featuring a lesson on "Fabrics and Fashion in Furnishings" to be given by a home adviser from the Edwardsville office. Those attending were Lillian Adams, Angie Brown, Mary Chessy, Daisy Cornett, Helen Cuvar, Myrtle Hickman, Mabel Markell, Doris Wilson, Brenda Weckman, Anna Taneise, a guest, Anna Mae Gates and those named.

First place was won by Tim Dennis; second place by Keith Coakley; and third by Robert Cornell.

Compensation

benefits. "Let's set the record straight," Vadablene noted. Rep. Wolf noted the insurance industry has no basis on which to show it needed the rate increase due to increased benefits to workmen.

Rep. Steele responded from the Republican side of the ledger that the rates are expected to triple in six months when the insurance companies do have a substantial number of actual claims on which to base the new rates.

"This bill is really hurting business," Steele said, noting, "I tried to oppose this increase. The benefits obviously have to be reduced. It is vitally important."

Whitsett said he felt the bill was another example of what he has made his chief campaign issue, the lack of the state to assess the reactions of its actions on local governments. "The state is nearly destroying itself," he said as supervisor of Nameoki Township.

Whitsett's remarks brought a response from Lucco who demanded he "stop campaigning and answer the question."

Rep. Wolf responded he was not in the legislature when the bill passed, but said, "The insurance companies need to be asked why a 48.6 per cent increase. They have no actuary to justify it."

"The insurance companies will have to answer to the insurance department at a later date and that rate going to be reduced drastically," Wolf predicted.

McPike said he felt the issue needed further study and Miss Wittig agreed, saying all bills need to be examined more carefully before they are passed.

Wilson did not direct himself to the workmen's compensation issue, but did say insurance in general is being driven up by "juries awarding tremendous claims," of $1 million and more.

"We should establish a method for judicial review of verdicts," he said.

Mrs. Ettimoff said she felt there should be additional research on the issue to try and find another workmen's compensation bill satisfactory to all the people.

Lucco cited the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 as an example of an agency which does not answer to anyone while establishing rules and regulations which hamper businesses and threaten to drive businesses and jobs to states where the regulations are not so strict.

Lucco also said he opposes administrative agencies which duplicate work already being done by house and senate committees.

While nearly all of the candidates spoke on behalf of fiscal responsibility in state government, there were several differences of opinions shown in their talks.

McPike and Mrs. Ettimoff spoke for the control of the balance of the state budget, while Vadablene, Lucco and Lucco opposed gun control, as Lucco opposed.

Wilson favored keeping the personal property tax system while Whitsett said he wants to abolish it. McPike and Mrs. McDonald said they felt the need for tax reform, but did not directly address the personal property tax issue.

While the short times allotted the candidates, not every candidate had an opportunity to address himself on every issue. Those who spoke on some of the major issues follow.

Reinstating the death penalty was supported by Vadablene, Lucco and Wolf. Stronger or mandatory prison sentences were supported by Wilson, Vadablene, McPike, Steele and Mrs. Ettimoff.

Speaking for a proposal to force criminals to reimburse the victims of their crimes, or to find another means of reimbursing crime victims, were Whitsett, Mrs. Ettimoff, McPike and Lucco.

Supporters of mandatory sentences for criminals using a weapon during a crime included Vadablene, McPike and Steele.

Full funding for schools was supported by Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Ettimoff and McPike, but was opposed by Wilson who contended the schools receive more each year, even though the state aid formula has been reduced.

McPike and Mrs. McDonald proposed tax relief or no taxes for senior citizens.

Wilson also supported higher salaries for state employees, a modified equal rights amendment for women, and a bill which would ban busing to achieve integration in the schools.

Mrs. Ettimoff was the only candidate to urge open primary elections. McPike was the only one to address himself to ethics legislation and Vadablene stood alone supporting the 1 to 5 ratio of law businesses more than individuals.

going up, but should be reviewed to assess its impacts. "Don't replace the entire bill, just the parts that need to be changed," he cautioned.

The second major topic of discussion was agencies of the state over which the legislature has little or no control. The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency was cited as one example.

Rep. Steele said the problem is a policy matter of the administration. "When you elect a governor, you elect a policy. It is a lengthy process to legislate a policy out."

Sen. Vadablene was very vocal, saying the establishment of the EPA was the downfall of former Gov. Richard Ogilvie and Richard Breidenbach, the present director of the EPA, "is going to be the downfall of Walcott," he predicted.

"The EPA won't let them. They think they are Jesus. Howlett has stated he will take care of these regulations in a more moderate and sensible way," Vadablene said, referring to Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett, who is opposed to the EPA.

Walker, who is the Democratic nomination for governor, Vadablene, who is coordinator for Howlett's campaign, is a 10-county area, said the problem is simple. "To get rid of these policies, get rid of the governor," he remarked.

Miss Wittig said she thinks the legislature should have the right to examine agencies, their policies and effects of their policies.

"You can have everything you want, but you may have to pay a price for it the public cannot afford," she said.

Wilson, a professor of business administration at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said the EPA regulations are unrealistic. He cited a goal of saving 100 pollutants in water discharged by industrial plants by 1985, alleging, "Of $1 million and more."

"We should establish a method for judicial review of verdicts," he said.

Mrs. Ettimoff said she felt there should be additional research on the issue to try and find another workmen's compensation bill satisfactory to all the people.

Lucco cited the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 as an example of an agency which does not answer to anyone while establishing rules and regulations which hamper businesses and threaten to drive businesses and jobs to states where the regulations are not so strict.

Lucco also said he opposes administrative agencies which duplicate work already being done by house and senate committees.

While nearly all of the candidates spoke on behalf of fiscal responsibility in state government, there were several differences of opinions shown in their talks.

McPike and Mrs. Ettimoff spoke for the control of the balance of the state budget, while Vadablene, Lucco and Lucco opposed gun control, as Lucco opposed.

Wilson favored keeping the personal property tax system while Whitsett said he wants to abolish it. McPike and Mrs. McDonald said they felt the need for tax reform, but did not directly address the personal property tax issue.

While the short times allotted the candidates, not every candidate had an opportunity to address himself on every issue. Those who spoke on some of the major issues follow.

Reinstating the death penalty was supported by Vadablene, Lucco and Wolf. Stronger or mandatory prison sentences were supported by Wilson, Vadablene, McPike, Steele and Mrs. Ettimoff.

Speaking for a proposal to force criminals to reimburse the victims of their crimes, or to find another means of reimbursing crime victims, were Whitsett, Mrs. Ettimoff, McPike and Lucco.

Supporters of mandatory sentences for criminals using a weapon during a crime included Vadablene, McPike and Steele.

Full funding for schools was supported by Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Ettimoff and McPike, but was opposed by Wilson who contended the schools receive more each year, even though the state aid formula has been reduced.

McPike and Mrs. McDonald proposed tax relief or no taxes for senior citizens.

Wilson also supported higher salaries for state employees, a modified equal rights amendment for women, and a bill which would ban busing to achieve integration in the schools.

Mrs. Ettimoff was the only candidate to urge open primary elections. McPike was the only one to address himself to ethics legislation and Vadablene stood alone supporting the 1 to 5 ratio of law businesses more than individuals.

McPike said he has released information on all of his assets, including bank accounts, a date list of all of his campaign contributors posted publicly on the wall of his campaign headquarters.

going up, but should be reviewed to assess its impacts. "Don't replace the entire bill, just the parts that need to be changed," he cautioned.

The second major topic of discussion was agencies of the state over which the legislature has little or no control. The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency was cited as one example.

Rep. Steele said the problem is a policy matter of the administration. "When you elect a governor, you elect a policy. It is a lengthy process to legislate a policy out."

Sen. Vadablene was very vocal, saying the establishment of the EPA was the downfall of former Gov. Richard Ogilvie and Richard Breidenbach, the present director of the EPA, "is going to be the downfall of Walcott," he predicted.

"The EPA won't let them. They think they are Jesus. Howlett has stated he will take care of these regulations in a more moderate and sensible way," Vadablene said, referring to Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett, who is opposed to the EPA.

Walker, who is the Democratic nomination for governor, Vadablene, who is coordinator for Howlett's campaign, is a 10-county area, said the problem is simple. "To get rid of these policies, get rid of the governor," he remarked.

Debate proposed $9.9 billion state budget

As anticipated, Gov. Dan Walker's proposed $9.9 billion state budget for the year starting July 1 will be presented as soon as it was presented this week.

The $9.9 billion document was made public Monday and was presented in Walker's budget message to the legislature yesterday.

Walker described the proposed budget as "sound and moderate," and noted it does not call for a tax increase. It includes $1.7 billion for elementary and secondary education, and $9.5 percent increase over school funding in the current fiscal year, he explained.

The educational aid level was one of the first items to be challenged as the State Board of Education noted the total is $179 million less than what is required to fully fund the schools.

St. Peter Lenten services

Beginning Sunday and continuing through the six Sundays in Lent, the Bauman Bible Telecast films on the Synoptic Gospels — Matthew, Mark and Luke, will be shown at 9 a.m. at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, according to the Rev. Robert L. Kettelhut, pastor.

The "Emmy" award winning films portray the relevance and meaning of the New Testament writings for man's life in the modern world, the minister said.

Special emphasis will be given to the new life available to man through Jesus Christ. What is the meaning of life? Who is God? Why do men suffer? What is the future destiny of man? Is there any hope for the world? The Rev. Kettelhut said. All these questions are dealt with in the films which are narrated by Dr. Edward W. Bauman, senior minister of Foundry United Methodist Church in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Bauman, who has conducted the "Bible Telecast" for 17 years, is an author and professor at the American University and Wesley Theological Seminary.

The films will be shown in Fellowship Hall. All senior high youths and adults are invited to attend. Art, music, poetry and contemporary literature will be used throughout the course, along with the new light shed on Biblical studies by the Dead Sea Scrolls and other recent developments in Biblical research, the pastor explained.

Church school classes at St. Peter's also will participate in a special observance and study during the Lenten season through a "Lenten

'America revisited' antique show

Not to be outdone by other Bicentennial enthusiasts, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Friends of Lovejoy Library are building their sixth annual Antiques Show and Sale around the theme, "America Revisited."

Sheila Stimson, executive secretary of Friends of Lovejoy Library and manager of the March 13-14 show, says, "We will celebrate America's Bicentennial through appreciation of her past."

Scheduled between the hours of 11 a.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday, March 13, and 12 noon until 6 p.m. Sunday, March 14, in the Meridian Ballroom of the University Center, there will be "an outstanding array of antique furniture from primitives to fine pieces for the new collector's pieces in glass, china and porcelain, including exemplary collectibles of precious Americans, dating from Colonial times to the early 20th Century."

One of the 28 dealers from Illinois and Missouri will be exhibiting and selling a "good selection of antique clothing." Mrs. Stimson pointed out. "In addition, there will be available Oriental and European pieces cherished by Americans through the years."

Ragtime and other old-time music from the library's Music of the American People collection will be played by Marianne Kozlowski, music librarian at SIUE. Light foods will be for sale near the Meridian Ballroom.

Commenting on the success of the annual antiques show, Mrs. Stimson noted that last year's show attracted persons from 65 cities in Illinois and 29 in Missouri as well as antique buffs from Iowa, Michigan, Texas and Wisconsin.

Admission at the door is $1.50 for adults. Tickets can be purchased in advance for $1 at the Friends of the Library Office or the Inter-Library Loan Office in Lovejoy, or from members.

Children under 13 accompanied by an adult will be admitted free. Also free is close-in parking behind university buildings after noon on Saturday. Pay lots are free after 1 p.m. on Saturday.

Armenian Cultural Night set Oct. 1

An Armenian Cultural Night is planned Oct. 1 at Granite City High School South, the St. Gregory Bicentennial Committee was informed at a meeting Monday evening at St. Gregory's Church.

Miss Nell Bogosian, chairman, said the Granite City Bicentennial Commission has designated Oct. 1 for the event, which will encompass dancing and music in the South auditorium and authentic Armenian foods served in the cafeteria, plus displays and exhibits.

Costume designs have been received from Boston and Los Angeles firms and a selection of Armenian folk songs, Miss Bogosian said. Participants for the dance segments also will be chosen at a later date.

Several persons to be responsible for various aspects of the Oct. 1 program were appointed by Miss Bogosian. They include Mrs. Rose Lesko, dance coordinator; Vahan Haroian, literature and pamphlets; Beverly Manogian, exhibits and displays; and Mrs. Marge Sissian, Armenian foods committee.

In other business, the committee reviewed designs for its float entry in the July 3 Bicentennial parade.

Mrs. Isabelle Vartan, float chairman, reported several sketches have been submitted, all combining the Armenian heritage and the nation's 200th birthday as their primary theme. The winning entry will be determined at the March 13 meeting, she said.

The group made plans to attend the GC Bicentennial Commission's meeting on March 23.

Dinner honors Pack 18 Cub Scouts

Cub Pack 18 of Sacred Heart School hosted its "Red, White, and Blue" banquet last week.

Cubmaster John Misturak opened the meeting with the flag ceremony led by the Webelos. Chris Nash was

The Cub Scouts were honored and seated at the head table. They included Eddie Williamson, who gave the invocation, John Misturak, James Cormier, Charles Hoppe, Vance Reznack, Glenn Wright and Chris Nash.

Welcomed as a special guest was Mrs. Owen T. Day.

The closing ceremony, given by Cub Scout John Misturak, included "A Creed" by Edgar A. Guest.

Sponsoring representative Mrs. Maggie Williamson gave a speech on the spirit of scouting. A background on the blue and gold banquets was given by the Cub Scouts and Webelos.

The pack committee report was given by Institutional Representative Mrs. Glennis Misturak, who discussed the pack's program and membership.

She expressed appreciation to Jerry Slezka, assistant cubmaster, for arranging the Cub Scout window display in Downtown Granite City.

Also recognized were Mrs. Ida Hoppe and Mrs. Audrey Cormier for their "outstanding" service to Pack 18.

Heartland Naturele Beef!!

HEARTLAND NATURELE BEEF is sold exclusively at Schermers Brothers. This beef is the product of young meat type animals raised in the "heartland" of America. It is called "NATURELE" beef because it is raised on natural forage. It is not "force-fed" with vitamins, chemicals, or sophisticated feeds containing so called "supplements." It is tender and lean. Since it was "grown" naturally, as nature intended it, you find a minimum of fat not only in the meat itself (sometimes referred to as "marbling") but on the outside or "cover" as it is referred to, you find just enough fat for cooking purposes.

In addition, HEARTLAND NATURELE BEEF tastes good. You get the real natural beef flavor. Since this beef is raised on natural feed, you don't have to worry about strange tastes caused by unnatural food supplements.

Delegate races complicate primary ballot but involve vital issue of this nation's Presidential leadership

The March 16 primary election will not present voters with a "bedsheet ballot," such as happened in the 1960s when legislative candidates ran statewide. But it will be an unusually long ballot, due primarily to the numerous candidates for national nominating convention delegates and alternate delegates.

Republican voters here will choose from among ten candidates for four delegate positions and seven aspirants for four alternate posts. Democrats will elect six delegates from a field of 32 and three alternate delegates from a group of ten candidates.

Adding interest to the task is that not only are many of the candidates known to local voters, but also they are affiliated on the ballot with nationally known candidates running for the office of United States President.

Because only the last names of Presidential contenders are listed, there may be some confusion over the numerous references to Wallace and Walker, relatively similar names when mentioned in fine print. The former, of course, is the governor of Alabama and the latter is governor of Illinois. Also similar are their desires to advance from chief executive of a state to the nation's highest office.

Democratic delegate hopefuls designating Gov. George Wallace as their preference are Mel Jones, George Rogers, Bob Watson, Carmen Grider, George Visker and Roy Louis Wilmzig. Backers of Gov. Daniel Walker are Gary Feare, Kathy Lynn Anderson, Teresa Benz, Auther Adams, James White and Charles Powell. Former Oklahoma Senator Fred Harris is favored by Edward Becker, James Guckes, Jan Heid and Thomas Wolff, while former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter is supported by Charles Weitzman, Richard Allen and Helen Hawkins. Lone delegate candidates are Steve Maragides for Minnesota Senator Walter Mondale, and Tom Chorlton for former Vice Presidential nominee Sargent Shriver of Illinois.

"Uncommitted," a vote that has proved popular in many states, is the designation for 11 Democratic delegate candidates, including a slate composed of State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon, Patrick Sullivan, Robert Bergman, Charles Heister, John Ubaldi and Fannie Jones. Also running uncommitted are Robert Mays, Michael Godt, William Dallas Jr., Julie Freedman and Margaret Blackshere. No would-be delegates have listed Tuesday's Massachusetts front-runner, Senator Jackson or strong-running Congressman Udall.

With three alternates to be chosen, the shorter list includes a Wallace trio — Carol Rogers, Gerald Grider and Geraldine Popov — and also a Walker threesome — Martha Wilson, Richard Melle and Willie Johnson. Uncommitted are Cheryl Byers, Mary Jean Ring, John Rekowski and Thomas Lakin, the latter three as a slate.

Republican voters' decisions center around the two chief contenders in that party — President Gerald Ford and former California Governor Ronald Reagan.

Opposing delegate slates are: Ford — William Stiehl, Willard Barthel, Betty Seppi and Gerald Cohn; and Reagan — Erwin Weder, James Crain, Robert Glenn and Jacquelyn Smith. Uncommitted are Paul Saugat and Rufus Burns.

For "Grand Old Party" alternates, there are four Ford adherents — Marvin Wright, Charlotte Longwisch, Edward Anderson and Russell Classen. The three Reagan backers are Dean Wallen, Janet Wilson and Kenneth Fox.

The foregoing is an attempt to clarify the challenge facing local voters. But despite their best efforts, they and other Illinoisans won't know for sure the full story until the Democratic convention takes place in New York City this summer.

For one thing, delegates will not be legally bound to vote for the Presidential candidate they have indicated on the March 16 ballot. They will be able to use their own judgment almost from the start of the Presidential nominating process.

There are predictions that there may be no clear-cut winner in the state. Although he is not represented in this Congressional district, U. S. Senator Adlai Stevenson of Illinois is the choice of more than 150 delegate hopefuls statewide. Gov. Walker has a like number of backers, and next numerically are Wallace, "uncommitted," Carter and Harris.

Apart from the delegate aspect, the March 16 Illinois ballot also offers two "beauty contests" in which voters will have a chance to voice Presidential preferences. Democrats competing are Wallace, Carter, Harris and Shriver, and Republicans are Pres. Ford, Reagan and frequent candidate Lar Daly of the Chicago area.

When the last ballot has been counted, Democrats will have named 155 delegates and 72 alternates. Republicans, meanwhile, will have selected 96 Kansas City-bound delegates and a like number of alternate delegates.

The assignment facing voters is difficult but nevertheless quite important.

As an illustration of the close "home town" impact of Presidential leadership issues, the subjects of foreign policy and military response were heavily debated in the 1964 election campaign. Within a few months, the Vietnam war had escalated and within a span of several years 38 Quad-City young men had been killed in the fighting there.

Precincts last on ballot but not least in importance

Quad-Cities will be thinking "pink" or "blue" on Tuesday, March 16, but it has nothing to do with blessed events. Democratic ballots will be pink and Republican ballots will be blue in Madison County, perhaps reflecting the fact that the former are usually "in the pink," voteless, and the outnumbered latter group often is "feeling blue" about the election outcome.

There will be considerable attention focusing on the major office nominations to be decided. Last but far from least, however, will be party precinct committee battles — at the bottom of the fourth Democratic column and at the end of the second Republican column on local voting machines.

It is the selection of precinct leaders that has such a big effect on present and future party vitality — or the absence of such vitality.

Of the 197 Madison County precincts, Republicans have no ballot candidates in 105 instances — an eloquent commentary on the size and health of the party in this region, at least in terms of those willing "to stand up and be counted" on primary day. There are 89 unopposed committeeman candidates, two two-way races and one three-way precinct fight. None of the opposition is the Quad-Cities.

On the Democratic side, only three precincts lack a committeeman candidate. Single candidates are unopposed in 154 instances and there are 38 two-way and two three-way races in this county.

A breakdown of the Democratic committeeman status in the 61 precincts in the four local area townships shows no one on the ballot in one precinct and lone candidates in 44 precincts.

There are triple fillings in Nameoki Five, Leo Pelek, Helen Hawkins and Dean Harrell, and in Venice One, John Dickey, Mayor William M. Ebersold and John Mangiaracino.

The remaining 14 Quad-City precincts all have dual committeeman competition on the Democratic side:

Chouteau Five — Peyton Lee Pavia and Morris Miles.

Jerry Adams and Louis Zeffoff Jr. Nameoki Ten — Robert Dickey and Vivian Koller. And Nameoki 11 — Robert Kijelka and Arthur Thies.

Venice Township Precinct Ten — Bennie Minzes and Edward Brandes.

Granite City One — Frank Fuzzessary and Bobby Oracy. GC Eight — Betty Smith and Gary Miller. GC 11 — John Petrillo and Jerry Walker. GC 14 — Alice McGee and Bob Walkenbach. GC 16 — William Harrison and David Partney. GC 23 — Sam Wolf and George Sykes, and GC 26 — Carl Buehler and Elsie Maylath.

Incumbent one of two Democratic aspirants for lieutenant governor

He ran in 1972 with Paul Simon, governor candidate, and is on the ticket this year with Michael Howlett, present secretary of state who is running for governor.

Hartigan was one of 200 Americans chosen by Time magazine as destined to provide "a new generation of leadership."

He has been elected as the next chairman of the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors.

Hartigan is credited with spearheading efforts for:

—Sales tax relief for 900,000 elderly and handicapped.

—The first cabinet-level state Department on Aging in the U.S.

—Restoring cuts in the mental health budget and restructuring the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities.

—Reform of the Illinois State Fair.

NEIL F. HARTIGAN

Neil F. Hartigan, 37, lieutenant governor of Illinois for the past four years, seeks the Democratic nomination March 16 for a second term.

MRS. JOANNE H. ALTER

Mrs. Joanne H. Alter, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Illinois lieutenant governor, brings a 25-year history of involvement in state politics to her present campaign.

She wants to meet as many people as she can because I want to be a lieutenant governor who will serve as a citizens' advocate," says Mrs. Alter.

"In order to be most effective in that job, I have to get around the state, meet people and hear what problems need solving in their communities."

Mrs. Alter was the creator and Illinois coordinator of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago. That victory made her the first Democratic woman ever elected to a countywide office in Cook County. At the MSD, she was known for close scrutiny of the district's budget.

As commissioner, Mrs. Alter worked for better cooperation between the Sanitary District and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. She concentrated on implementing programs regarding flood control, energy conservation and planning for use of land under MSD jurisdiction.

She represented Illinois at two major United Nations functions last year. She was the Illinois chairperson for United Nations Day, and coordinated all the events held statewide for the day. She also was chosen as the Illinois representative to the UN World Conference for International Women's Year, held in Mexico City.

In 1968, President Lyndon Johnson selected her to represent the U.S. at a United Nations meeting on women's political affairs in Ghana.

UNESCO Conference on International Cultural Exchange in France.

Mrs. Alter has a bachelor of arts degree in political science from Mount Holyoke, where she graduated in 1949, cum laude. In 1952, she married Jim Alter, shortly before both of them became active in the Stevenson Presidential campaign.

The Alters have two daughters and two sons. They are Jennifer, 21, Jonathan, 18, Jamie, 16, and Harrison, 13. The Alters live in a 30-year-old house on Chicago's north side.

She has served on the board and as a volunteer for many community groups. For her community participation and "commitment to upgrading the quality of life in society," Mrs. Alter received the 1975 YWCA leadership award for metropolitan community leadership.

Downstate man, Chicago area woman rivals on GOP ballot

MRS. JOAN G. ANDERSON

Mrs. Joan G. Anderson, a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, comments that she wants to establish a new tradition for that office.

She said, "The lieutenant governor of Illinois should be more than a stand-in. The second highest state officer should be a team mate whose abilities and skills are coordinated with those of the governor to insure that state services better reach Illinois citizens."

"I hope to create a role that is neither ceremonial nor in conflict with the governor."

Mrs. Anderson is the only Republican commissioner of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago. She was a delegate to the Illinois Constitutional Convention and the first woman elected to the College of DuPage board.

She believes priority should be placed on making existing state services work rather than on creating a new layer of programs — and that "the money we have now should be used more effectively."

"When citizens resist an increase in taxes, it doesn't mean they are against good schools and clean air and water. They are saying they want the taxes they pay now to be spent more effectively. They are right," she said.

Mrs. Anderson relates that as lieutenant governor she would set an "open door" policy and be available to talk with Illinois residents.

She lived in Peoria for 10 years and is a resident of Western Springs, a suburb of Chicago.

She is a consultant to the Institute of Government and Public Affairs at the University of Illinois and has served as a staff consultant at the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs.

She also wrote the 1973 report of the legislature's Illinois Municipal Problems Commission, which described the development of the local government article at the Constitutional Convention.

She was Phi Beta Kappa in bacteriology at the University of Illinois in Champaign. She and her husband, Daniel C., have four children.

She has accused Gov. Walker of "the kind of state management that has made everyone cynical about the ability of government to do anything at all."

She said the governor does not pay proper attention to administering state programs and that residents seeking information from state officials meet with frustration and confusion.

Federal grant funds for municipalities and sanitary districts were held up last year because the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency delayed almost a year in approving projects, Mrs. Anderson said.

Administrative confusion also affects citizens searching for information from state departments. "People are switched from one department to the next with no success at all," she said.

Mrs. Anderson said that as lieutenant governor she would serve as a clearinghouse for citizens' communications and ask the appropriate official or department to respond to residents' requests.

Anderson said. During this period, costs for construction and materials mushroomed, she added.

"It would be easy to hold state agencies responsible," she said, "but the agencies are there to respond to the governor and confusion is created when the executive doesn't give direction."

"Possibly at no prior time in our history has the need for intergovernmental action been so great as it is today. The state plays the key role in grant programs for local governments."

"When it takes twice as long as necessary to do something, the citizens lose in both costs and services. Prices climb and projects can't be carried out or completed."

Mrs. Anderson said administrative confusion also affects citizens searching for information from state departments. "People are switched from one department to the next with no success at all," she said.

Mrs. Anderson said that as lieutenant governor she would serve as a clearinghouse for citizens' communications and ask the appropriate official or department to respond to residents' requests.

DAVE O'NEAL

St. Clair County Sheriff Dave O'Neal is seeking the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor of Illinois.

The Belleville resident, 39, believes he would lend geographic balance to the state ticket. He is regarded as an effective campaigner, having won twice as sheriff in Democratic-prone St. Clair County.

A licensed pharmacist and real estate broker, O'Neal regards himself as an administrator rather than a police officer. His department has 13 employees and a budget of over $1 million.

He says he would be "devil's advocate" to the governor but express his views privately. He would serve as an assistant to the governor and avoid antagonistic relationships, he adds.

"The record established by the governor ultimately becomes that of the lieutenant governor because they run as a team. The dominant figure in that partnership has got to be the governor," O'Neal comments.

He said his candidacy offers administrative ability, hard work, integrity and extensive knowledge of the criminal justice system and municipal and county government.

Born in Belleville, he is a graduate of St. Louis College of Pharmacy and formerly operated the Western Pharmacy in Belleville.

O'Neal is vice president of B & D Land Corp. and a partner in Walco Associates, a real estate holding firm.

He was named outstanding young Republican of Illinois in 1971 and an outstanding young Republican of the nation in 1975.

2 run in County Board District 23

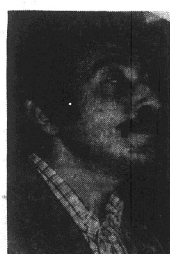

Jake Hagop Varadian, 744 Olive St., is a candidate in the Democratic primary election for nomination to the Madison County Board in District 23.

A committeeman in Granite City Precinct 10, he is opposing the County Board incumbent, Jay D. Maurer.

Varadian said at a meet-the-candidates meeting of the Granite City Democratic Club that he would do his best in the position if elected to the County Board.

He noted that he is of Armenian heritage and spent his early years in the Lincoln Place area, where he continues to reside.

JAKE HAGOP VARADIAN

He is in charge of a "block" class (English and social studies) at Prairie Junior High School.

Jay D. Maurer, 52, of 633 Washington Ave. in Venice, is seeking re-election to the Madison County Board in District 23. He is a candidate in the March 16 Democratic primary.

Venice city superintendent of streets, Maurer has been a member of the County Board since April 1961. He became a Democratic precinct committeeman in 1968.

The candidate served in the Marine Corps for three years. A member of the Madison Amvets Post 204, he serves as membership chairman of Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307. He was awarded a lifetime membership in November 1973 by Post 307.

Maurer is a member of the Venice Lions Club, the Venice Crippled Children's Organization and the executive board of Venice Fire Company No. 1.

A native of East St. Louis, he attended Venice schools and has been a Venice resident 30 years. Maurer is chairman of the Building Committee of the County Board and serves actively on other committees.

Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110, began its seventh year of operation last week as more than 200 family members and friends gathered in the Madison Recreation Center for the group's annual "Family Night" dinner.

Dr. Thomas Layloff, chairman of the Uniwah (Quad-Cities) District of the Catholic Mount Council, made the presentation of the official Explorer Charter of the Boy Scouts of America to Officer Pete Kostecki, president of the Madison police for their interest and support of the Explorers over the past several years, which has caused the Madison Explorers to become leaders not only locally, but on a national scale.

Mrs. Karen Bridick was presented with a plant by President Bruce Rotter in appreciation of her "always helping us when we need it." Rotter then presented a decanter in the form of a Keystone Cop which is the official top 10-4 award to Third Ward Alderman Ronald Grzywacz.

Rotter noted that it was Grzywacz who, several years ago obtained the Third Street concession stand for the Explorers during the summer softball league, helped them earn money for their super-activity trip to Colorado and has made his facilities available without cost at the G. & G. Car Wash during the winter as the group washes the Madison police cars.

Others recognized for their support were Officer Donald Bridick, Madison juvenile officer and Ed Ray Dubish, president of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners for the city.

William Weidner, who acted as campaign manager for Rotter's successful bid for Great Central Area Chairman, gave a report on the campaign and presented "Snoopy" statues to Shay Davis, president of Explorer Post 9 who made the nominating speech for Rotter.

Miss Cindy Warren, a close friend of Rotter's, also was presented a plaque for acting as the candidate's secretary and helping him with correspondence and developing his campaign material before the election.

United States raw steel production continued its climb into the Bicentennial year, as January raw steel production reached 9,835,000 tons, based on preliminary data released Friday by the American Iron and Steel Institute (AISI).

This was the highest monthly total since May of last year, when the nation's steel mills poured 9,864,000 tons of raw steel.

The January total, reflecting an increase in all three major steel-melting categories, represents a capability utilization (cu) rate of 74.4 per cent, according to Institute figures.

January marks the Institute's first use of the capability utilization measure. It replaces AISI's steelmaking index, which was based on average 1967 production as 100.

The January increase in production continued the full-year 1975 pattern of electric steelmaking furnaces output slightly outpacing that of older open hearth furnaces, the one dominant producers of carbon, or big tonnage steel.

Electric furnace production in January 1976 reached 1,839,000 tons. This compares to 2,445,000 tons in January of 1975, and is a 21.9 per cent increase over December 1975 electric furnace output of 1,590,000 tons.

Production by the basic oxygen process stood at 6,194,000 tons at the end of January.

However, it represents a 2.8 per cent increase over the December 1975 output of 5,746,000 tons.

Open hearth furnace production in January was 1,702,000 tons, against 1,510,000 tons last month and 2,482,000 tons in January 1975.

Calculated weekly production during January was 2,220,000 net tons, according to AISI data.

"Based on tonnage capability to produce raw steel for a full 'order book' based on the current availability of raw materials, fuels and supplies and of the industry's coke, iron, steelmaking, rolling and finishing facilities."

The steelmaking capability also takes into account current environmental and safety requirements of the federal, state and local governments. January pig iron production was 6,636,000 tons.

Family counseling topic

The Gateway East Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa will hold a breakfast meeting Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Round Table Restaurant, Highway 157. Program Chairman John J. Novotny, principal of Columbus School in Edwardsville, reports that Mrs. Debby Swirsky Feinstein and Carl Meyer will discuss "Mental Health Services Available to Adults, Children and Families."

Mrs. Feinstein has a master of social work degree from Washington University's George Warren Brown School of Social Work, and is currently working in the Center for Family Development. Her previous experiences include work in a day care setting, a child guidance center, and a crisis center for adolescent girls.

Her current position in the Center for Family Development entails intensive family therapy with adolescents, communications courses for families, and self-awareness groups for teenagers. Meyer is a graduate of Washington University's George Warren Brown School of Social Work. His professional training has been in the area of clinical social work, with special interest in family therapy.

He is currently working in the Family Development Program for the Madison County Mental Health Clinic, Quad-Cities Center, and teaches part-time for Belleville Area College. He is also an adjunct assistant professor for St. Louis University's Schools for Social Service, providing supervision and training for graduate social work students.

Edison burglary

Meat from the freezer, food from the refrigerator and kitchen cabinets and two coin banks containing about $11 in coins were stolen during a burglary at the home of Tammy Schaffra, 1739 Edison Ave., it was reported to police.

The rear door was broken and the lock removed to gain entry. The apartment was ransacked and clothing was thrown around the floor.

Five men have been accused of felony crimes in cases prepared by the Madison County state's attorney's office. Barry Bloodworth, 24, Bunker Hill, Ill., is accused of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Gregory Ehlers, 28, of the 4800 block of Vine Street, Dec. 7.

It was alleged a police officer saw Bloodworth standing over Mr. Ehlers and Bloodworth was holding a recently-fired gun. Mr. Ehlers was found with four bullet wounds and died in an ambulance enroute to Farnum Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Joe William Holland, 1914 Oriole St., Venice, has been accused of burglary and theft. He allegedly entered property of Ken Talley, Alton, and took a television set.

Diametrus D. Compton, 20, of the 1200 block of College Street, is accused of burglary. The home of Jesse Thompson, 1119 Douglas St., Venice, was burglarized Nov. 12, when money and a gun were stolen. He later pleaded guilty to burglary and is to be sentenced March 26.

Albert Joseph Degand Jr., 23, Calumet City, Ill., is accused of taking a 17-year-old girl from South St. Louis, beating her and throwing her from a moving car Dec. 10 on Interstate 70.

Degand since has pleaded guilty to aggravated battery in connection with the case and is to be sentenced March 18.

Greg L. Andrews, 18, who resided at the YMCA here, has been accused of two counts of burglary. He allegedly took items — during a burglary at the East Side Terminal Credit Union, 1414 Fifth St., Madison, Dec. 20 — which later were found in his room.

Andrews also has been accused of taking a flashlight and an FM radio converter unit from the truck of Robert Jackson, 1725 Delmar Ave., parked at Jackson's home Dec. 28. Officers alleged following fingerprints in the snow to the YMCA.

BREAK INTO APARTMENT

A quantity of food was stolen from the refrigerator at the home of Maxine Holt, 849 Niedringhaus Ave., Apt. 204, it was reported last week. White paint was sprayed on the paneling in the bedroom and the victim's mail was opened. Entry was gained by forcing open the apartment door.

Bar auxiliary hosts dinner

The Madison County Bar Association Auxiliary hosted a dinner meeting last week at Tony's Restaurant at Mitchell. Thirty-four members were present.

The auxiliary is making a quilt in a Bicentennial theme, which will consist of 24 squares, 23 of which will have one letter of the alphabet with a patriotic design; the 24th square containing X-Y-Z.

Designs were done by club members Jean Kellisher and Elaine Wendler. The squares are being embroidered by the auxiliary members and will be connected with blue and red materials, edged in gold.

Plans are being made to display the quilt at the Courthouse Law Day May 1. Cake and coffee will be served by the auxiliary.

Committees were selected to make plans for awarding the quilt as a prize and a possibility of entering the quilt in a contest at the Springfield State Fair in August. Proceeds will be used for a Bicentennial project in the County Courthouse.

Deductions for tax reductions

By FRANK R. RICE
President, Southern Chapter, Illinois CPA Society
Third in a series of articles on 1975 income taxes.
Digging up evidence of all the

during the year can be the most time-consuming part of income tax preparation.
But it's unavoidable — unless you use the standard deduction of 16 per cent of adjusted gross income up to $3,200.

And even if you decide to go with the standard deduction, you'll probably have to add up all your available deductions, anyway — to find out which method of filing is more profitable.

That's why it's wise, whether you use the long-form return or the short, whether you prepare your own return or have it done for you, to make a thorough search of your records first.

When you do, here are the types of deductible expenses to look for:
— Medical and dental.
— Taxes paid.
— Contributions.
— Interest paid.
— Casualty or theft losses.
— Child care and disabled
dependent care.
— Alimony.
— Unreimbursed business expenses.

dental expenses include more than doctor, dentist and hospital bills. They take in prosthetic devices, such as eyeglasses, dentures and hearing aids;
special equipment, such as wheelchairs, medical travel;
special foods that may be required; and many other costs.
Put aside all receipts or canceled checks that may relate to health care and thus may be medical deductions, and then refer to the tax instruction booklet or ask your tax preparer about them.

Drugs and medicines are deductible only to the extent that they exceed one per cent of adjusted gross income.
After subtracting the one per cent, add the remaining drug and medicine costs to other medical bills, which then are subject to another exclusion of three per cent of adjusted gross income.

The only health expense not subject to the three per cent exclusion is one-half of medical insurance premiums, up to $150.
Deductions for taxes are limited to those paid to local, state and foreign governments, and include taxes on income, real estate, personal property,
sales and gasoline.

of these taxes later, don't worry about it; take the tax as a deduction in the year paid and include it in income when you get the refund.

Do not deduct taxes paid to the federal government, custom duties, motor vehicle or drivers' license fees or taxes on alcohol or tobacco.

Also, leave out assessments for local improvements and transfer taxes on the sale of your home. They're not deductible, either.

Contributions are deductible only if made to qualified organizations, of which the Internal Revenue Service maintains a current list in all its offices.

Almost all of the better known charitable, religious, educational and service organizations are on the list.
If you claim a deduction a non-cash gift worth more than $200, you must attach a statement to your return describing the item, telling how you acquired it, stating the fair market value and the terms under which you contributed it, and giving certain other information.

When computing the deduction for interest you have paid, don't overlook the interest charged on credit card accounts and time payment plans, or the "points" paid when buying a house.

Also, include any penalty imposed for prepayment of a mortgage.
Interest charged for an income tax deficiency is another deductible item.

Personal property casualty losses — from storms, fires, floods, etc. — and those caused by theft are deductible only to the extent that they exceed insurance compensation plus $100 per loss.

The amount of loss can be figured either as the difference in value of the property before and after the event, or as the cost of restoring it to its previous condition.

If the loss was caused by theft, be able to show that the item wasn't lost or misplaced by obtaining a theft report from the police department.

To qualify for the maximum deduction of up to $400 a month for child-care or dependent-care costs, you must have incurred those costs so that you could hold a full-time job.

Payments for the care of a child under 15 or an invalid dependent or spouse must have gone to someone other than a relative.

If your income plus that of your spouse exceeded $18,000, part of the deduction is lost. And when joint income reaches

If you are in the over-$18,000 category — or could be if you

the new, more generous provisions of the law for 1976.
Use IRS form 2441.

Alimony is a tax deduction to the payer and taxable income to the receiver. Child support is neither.
If, after a divorce becomes final, the payer of alimony decides to be more generous, increases not ordered by the court are not deductible.

Major deductions for an employee's job-related expenses for travel, transportation, gifts and entertainment are taken as adjustments to income.
But costs of many other income-producing activities can be claimed as ordinary deductions. For example:
— Employment agency fees and other job-seeking costs,

now deductible even if they fail to produce a new job.
— Dues to unions or professional societies.
— Books, subscriptions, tools and uniforms needed to perform your work or to supervise investments.
— Safe deposit box rental for retention of securities, etc.

— Fees of tax and other financial advisers.
As mentioned earlier, if a document points to even the possibility of a deduction, put it aside and let a tax adviser decide.
The next article will take up exemptions and the tax reductions they produce.

will start at 9:45 a.m.
The program will include the actual pruning of apples, peaches, pears, blackberries, area adviser in fruits and vegetables with U. of I., will actually prune each type of fruit tree step by step for the audience.

Edwardsville, take Highway
Rt. 143 west toward Wood River. Go one-half mile west of the Rt. 143 and Rt. 142 intersection and turn north. Go one half mile to a gray house on the
is on the mail box.

Have you ever wondered why your strawberries or raspberries did poorly? Have you wondered what insects destroyed your apple crop?
Why not plan to attend a program on raising small fruits and tree fruits to be held Tuesday, March 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the Farm Bureau auditorium in Edwardsville?

Chris Doll, U of I area adviser in fruits and vegetables, will discuss cultural practices used in raising small fruits such as strawberries, blackberries, raspberries, grapes and in raising tree fruits such as apples, peaches, pears, and plums. There will be time provided on the program for questions.

For additional information on the Horticulture programs, Quad Cityans may contact the Cooperative Extension Service office (656-7200).

Spring applications of herbicides may help lessen the wild garlic problem in wheat.
University of Illinois research indicates that 2,4-D ester can reduce the formation of aerial bulbils and distort the plants.

Many of the remaining aerial bulbils will then be missed during harvest if the combine is adjusted high enough and the wheat is standing well. If a legume is underseeded in wheat, 2,4-D should not be used.
Application should be made in the spring after wheat has fully tillered and before it is in the jointing stage. This is usually when wheat is about four to eight inches tall.

The rate of 2,4-D to use is critical, as too much may injure the wheat while too little may not control the wild garlic. One to one and one-half pints of 2,4-D ester per acre often gives fairly good control.

Anyone using 2,4-D in wheat should realize that wheat injury is possible and control is variable. However, if it is applied at approved rates at the proper time, the risk of injury is usually less than the risk from a severe garlic infestation.

The herd of Ronald Huegen herds in Madison County Dairy Herd Improvement Association in January were Ronald Huegen, Ray Bertels, Jim Boone, Henry Zoeller, Harold and Carl Baumann, Vernon Warnecke, Elmer Schaeke and Son, Waldo Keilbach, Marvin Stille, and Mrs. Freda Linen-broker.

The herd of Ronald Huegen
was high for the month with 1,64 pounds butterfat per cow per day. The Huegen herd of 106 cows averaged 43.2 pounds milk per cow per day with an average butterfat test of 3.79.

Latex HOUSE PAINT

Your house stretches and shrinks with variations in temperature and humidity. It's this expansion and contraction that most often causes house paint to work loose, crack and peel.

The flexibility of Sun-Proof Latex House Paint enables it to resist the stress and strain that ruptures an otherwise sound paint film. It resists cracking, peeling and flaking. Come in today for a free color chart.
